Trailer camps under supervision of county, state

In response to inquiries made of the Cook County Department of Public Health, regarding provisions for public health required of trailer camps, Paddock Publications are in receipt of a pamphlet entitled. "Regulations for the Sanitary Control of Tourist and Trailer Camps."

The rules set forth by the division of sanitary engineering are very explicit. It exercises control and requires application for approval for all camps that are designed for more than fifteen persons.

The public health authorities recommend that, where possible, water supply and sewage facilities be obtained from a public source, such as can be provided by the village of Arlington Heights. Arlington has turned down an application for connection to local sewage system by a projected camp at the intersection of Wilke road and Northwest highway. The site has city water service.

OWNERS of a 23-acre tract, adjoining the village of Arlington Heights have visions of the establishment of a trailer camp on their property. Possible objections by the village and the realization that the installation of health provisions that would be required by the state, may cause the owners to abandon their plans.

COOK COUNTY department of health recently inspected the trailer camp operated on government property south of Arlington. The department has found as inadequate much of the installation guarding the health of occupants. It has made certain recommendations to the operators of the camp, among which is repair of the sewage treatment plant which is partially inoperative; the installation of seperate toilet facilities for the trailers, apart from the barracks; a revamping of the entire sanitary set up if it is planned to expand the camp beyond fifty trailers.

The fact that the government owns the property and the housing shortage in general has held up definite action on some of the miner infractions of the present state regulations. The cooperation of the camp can remedy conditions at this camp. The department of public health is awaiting a report from the operators as to their plans regarding possible future expansion and the remedying of present unsatisfactory conditions.

ANOTHER angle that is causing some alarm is a possible conflagration among the trailers. As one health official told Paddock Publications this week, "the people are sitting on dynamite, but at present there is no law that covers the situation. We are asking the Cook County Board to enlarge control over trailer camps that will give us greater authority over them."

UNCLE SAM pays no local taxes and Arlington Heights school system has not yet received any funds from the airport. Assessor Otto Busse has reported to the office of the county assessor the presence of the two incorporated companies operating within the government property and it is presumed that they will pay a personal property tax next year.

Fifteen children are attending Arlington Heights public schools. There are ten additional ones who will be ready for kindergarten next fall.

Homer J. Byrd wins democratic nomination for county judge

Homer J. Byrd, former Arlington resident and Democratic leader in the Chicago suburbs, is again active in politics. He was an easy winner for the Democratic nomination of county judge at Buffton, Ind. A copy of the Buffton News-Banner says that Byrd defeated his opponent two to one.

Homer has many friends in Arlington Heights, among both Republicans and Democrats. These friends do not know which party is in the ascendency in Buffton county, but are wishing their friend the best of luck.

Mr. Byrd while a resident of Arlington Heights, was a police magistrate, village alderman, assistant county superintendent of schools and county commissioner.

Conference track meet at Arlington next Wednesday night

Arlington Heights high school will play host next week, Wednesday night to the Northeast conference track meet under the lights. The Cardinals with the Palatine Relays crown already tucked under their wings, hope for victory.

High school adds vocal music to curriculum

Three new teachers have been given contracts at Arlington Heights township high school for the 1948-49 school year, according to Principal LeRoy Knoeppel.

William V. Boland, who received a music education degree and bachelor of fine arts from the University of S. Dakota in 1937, will teach vocal music at the high school.

This will be a new department, and Boland will be in charge of all choruses and will teach private voice during school hours at no extra cost to students.

From 1937 to 1942 Boland was music supervisor in the public schools at Bellevue, Ia., and after leaving the armed services in 1945, entered Northwestern university music school, where he will receive a masters degree in August, 1948.

His students in Iowa have placed high in Iowa state music contests in 1940, 41, and 42.

Miss Kathryn B. Remond, of Oakwood, Ill., will teach vocational and social typing and general business classes at Arlington starting next fall.

She will receive her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Illinois in June, 1948.

John Hookom, who received a B. A. degree from Illinois Wesleyan college, will teach mathematics. Hookom is a returning teacher, having taught at Arlington during the 1946-47 school year. He had resigned in 1947 to enter business, but has decided to teach again.

Hookom has had three summers of graduate work in education at the University of Iowa, taught mathematics and physics at South English, Iowa schools (1938-40), and was principal of Alden, Iowa, high school from 1940 to 41.

Radio club employee dies in car plunge off Barrington road

Otto C. Spotswood, 40, night manager of the Radio club, Chicago, and an employee of Jack Denzer at Radio Club Farm, Palatine, died Monday of chest injuries when his car plunged from Barrington road into a swollen creek during a severe thunderstorm.

His wife of a few weeks, Helen, 29, who was in the car with him, and who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Elgin, sustained lacerations on her face and left leg and a possible skull fracture.

The Spotswoods left the Radio Club Farm, on Northwest highway near Palatine, around 12:30 a. m. As they neared the creek, 8 miles east of Elgin, Spotswood apparently lost control of the car, swerved off the road to the left, and skidded over the side into the middle of the stream, which had risen during the rainstorm.

The automobile came to a rest still upright.

The force of the plunge apparently hurled Mrs. Spotswood into the rear seat. When she regained consciousness, she crawled into the front seat, where her husband was in the driver's seat, unconscious, with the creek waters rising.

She told hospital attendants she shouted for help and, as the waters continued to rise, held her husband's head up so he would not drown.

H. C. Thurman, of Bartlett, a cattle buyer, heard Mrs. Spotswood's screams as he drove past at 5:30 a. m., more than four hours after the crash. He sought help, and state police, after forcing open a door, finally removed the couple from the car.

State police believe Spotswood was still breathing when taken from the automobile, but said he evidently did not regain consciousness before he died.

All Star show turns out great success

Those who attended the All Star show at the Arlington Theater last Thursday saw a grand finale of 24 acts, all good, and put on with a professional touch.

THE AMATEUR shows that were held the past ten weeks in Arlington Heights, were given as a non-profit making program. The director, Mrs. J. M. Bosch, her assistants, and the various businesses that furnished prizes for the shows, donated their time and gifts.

Mrs. Bosch wishes to publicly thank the following businesses for their part in making the shows a success: Baylor's Firestone Store, Sieburg Drug Co., Inc., Horath Shell Service Station, Arlington Candy Shop, Arlington Milk Distributors, and Arlington Radio and Record Shop.

ASSISTING Mrs. Bosch in directing the shows were Mrs. William Scholz, Mrs. Dorothy Ackerlund and Dick Michalski, who acted as master of ceremonies. A special thanks goes to Mrs. G. M. Eakins, who donated her time for playing the piano, Miss June Rolds and to Don Knapp for the use of the theater and the theater tickets he gave as gifts.

Mrs. Bosch expects to resume the amateur shows in the fall. In the mean time, she would like to have the boys and girls practice real hard so that they will be ready to start off with a bang in the fall.

THEATER GROUP PRESENTS 'ARSENIC AND OLD LACE'

"Arsenic and Old Lace" will be presented by the Palatine Players, a theatrical group recently organized in Palatine, Thursday and Friday, May 13 and 14, at the Palatine high school auditorium. Proceeds will benefit the youth center.

New cop; new traffic arrests in Arlington

Habitual speeders who think they "know" Arlington Heights police had a rude awakening the past week.

The new traffic officer is Raymond H. Jahnke, 30, of 123 S. State road, Arlington Heights. His duties began May 1.

As a state highway police officer he formerly issued tickets to the court of C. M. Behrens. As a village policeman, his tickets go to the attention of Judge Neuman.

During the war he was in the Army, "but I wasn't an MP," he added.

Officer Jahnke is married and has three children, Barbara, 8, Janice, 5, and Jo Ann, 3.

The other new police department employe is Richard P. Bracke 24, of 128 S. Haddow, Arlington Heights.

Bracke is the new radio policeman and is working from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. this month. His duties also started officially May 1.

Bracke had done radio work in the Marine corps for 3½ years. He is married and has two children, Susan, 2½, and Philip, 1.

Asked how things were going with the new radio hook-up with Palatine police force, Bracke said "the hook-up is working fine."

Tax collectors report good collections

Township tax collectors opened their offices last week to meet the rush for payment of 1947 taxes.

Bills are higher and collectors, while not being blamed by the public for the tax increase, are doing lots of explaining about the new valuations, higher rates, etc.

Collectors are the only persons connected with the entire tax machinery with whom the public comes in contact, and, as a consequence, they are the boys who have to answer the questions.

William Annen, collector for Wheeling township, reports that tax collections have been "very satisfactory," and that 30 per cent of the tax bill intake has been received.

COLLECTOR Annen will be at Arlington Heights National bank every day until May 28, except May 12 and 19 when he will be at Mt. Prospect State bank. Also, he will accept tax collections at Wheeling State bank on Friday, May 14, and Wednesday, May 26.

Albert J. Kraemer, tax collector for Elk Grove township, will be at Mt. Prospect State bank every day until closing date Saturday, May 29.

However, Wednesday, May 19, he will be at Arlington Heights National bank and Thursday, May 20, at Itasca State bank.

Property owners can pay their tax bills to him at these times.

MANY PERSONS who have recently purchased property are not yet on the tax books, and bills probably went to former owners. If the old owners do not return the tax bills to the collector or forward them to new possessors, the latter should visit the tax collector for a new bill.

Attend Republican state convention

Commissioner Wm. Busse, as delegate from Elk Grove township attended the Illinois Republican convention at Springfield Monday. He reports that the old time enthusiasm was very much in evidence and is a good omen for the November election.

Wheeling township was represented by Henry A. Busse, Mar Johnson and Jack Selle.

Revised Mt. Prospect building code to specify room area

Mt. Prospect will be the first village in the northwest area to modernize its buillding code, replacing price restrictions with floor areas. The necessary changes in the code will be reported by Trustee Bayne next week, after which an ordinance will be passed. The area requirements will include the individual rooms, the ceiling heights and the complete floor area.

It has been admitted by building commissioners of neighboring towns that existing building codes are outmoded by the present high building costs. Mt. Prospect is doing something about it.

Summer home of Chicago owner burns near Palatine

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goodman Wilmette ave., (route 53) Palatine were awakened at 1:45 Sunday morning by a passing motorist who had discovered a house adjoining the Goodman's property was afire. The roof had fallen in by the time that Mr. Goodman called the Palatine Rural Fire Dept. The owners reside in Chicago, occupying their summer place a few weeks during the summer. They were there Saturday afternoon to do some work in their garden and have no idea as to the cause of the blaze.

A. H. T. H. S. class of '38 to plan reunion

The class of '38 of Arlington Heights high school, will soon make plans for a 10th anniversary picnic to be held Sunday, August 15. The forest preserve area, known as Lake Avenue Woods, East has been reserved for the occasion through the forest preserve district of Cook county.

This will be the first reunion of the class since graduation and will offer an opportunity for class members and their acquired families to renew old times.

The first general meeting for committee volunteers is scheduled for 7:30 Thursday evening, May 20, at Arlington Heights high school.

Mayor proclaims May 15 as School Safety Patrol day

One of the fundamental responsibilities of good representative government is the protection of life, limb and property of citizens.

School Safety Patrols, year in and year out, have rendered invaluable service in this field in protecting school children from the hazards of street traffic.

In full acknowledgement thereof, I publicly proclaim Saturday May 15, 1948, to be School Safety Patrol Day.

In this connection, I respectfully urge Arlington Heights residents to pause and pay due tribute to boys and girls enrolled in School Safety Patrols and to give full cooperation in this valuable traffic safety effort.

On behalf of the Village Board and Arlington Heights citizenry, I commend members of the School Safety Patrols. They are rendering distinguished service in protecting citizens of tomorrow from traffic hazards of today.

Albert W. Goedke,
Village President

Wheeling assessor to lose aid of citizens' group

There is a group of Arlington Heights men, who are wondering if they have been taken for a ride by the office of the county assessor and state revenue commission. They admit that they were too honest when they placed honest values on a lot of vacant real estate.

They are members of a citizens group serving in an advisory capacity with Assessor Studtman. They say that after the treatment given their figures by the powers that be, they are through — never again.

THEY SPENT several days in determining the realty values in Wheeling township. They adopted values at what the properties in question were bringing on the market. The office of the county assessor accepted those figures.

C. A. Hughes, Cook county farm adviser, in an article on page 21 of this issue, tells the farmers that there is very little they can do about their high tax bills. T. C. Hart in Tales of the Street (page 17) places the blame of high taxes on increased operating costs of all taxing bodies.

Along came the state department of revenue which ruled that there should be a boost in all realty figures of 1.29%. That boost made the original property values higher than the market. Assessor Studtman admits that an injustice has been done, but any remedy rests with the board of appeals.

PROPERTY owners in Scarsdale Estates have hired a law firm to represent them before the appeal board. A circular letter mailed to all property owners asks a retainer fee of $5.00 each. The final fee of the attorneys will be half the tax reduction for the first year. The property owners will also benefit by the reduction in valuation during the succeeding three years.

Mt. Prospect may ban comic books

Mayor Pendleton of Mount Prospect made an impassioned plea at the May meeting of the village board of that town Tuesday evening asking that comic books be banned from sale. Members of the board agreed with him and Attorney Opeka was instructed to prepare an ordinance prohibiting their display and sale.

The inquiring reporter of the Mt. Prospect Herald found Wednesday morning that every mother interviewed agreed with the mayor and hoped that the books would be outlawed.

All money received will be used to purchase handicraft materials for the cubs.

It's a straight, narrow path for autoists here

Tail-lights are to a car what flowers are to spring.

This was the spring song Judge Neumann sang to three of six defendants in Arlington Heights police court Wednesday morning as they appeared to confess their autos lacked the lighted tail pieces.

Lambert Brzostowski, Kensington road, Arlington Heights, was arrested by Officer Karstens on Route 14 between Vail and Evergreen for violating village ordinance 67 (tail lights on gas-propelled machines) and was fined $2 plus $3 court costs.

He also told the judge he had purchased a village license sticker for his auto since the time of his arrest, when he did not have one displayed on the car windshield.

Robert B. Marriett, of Fox River Grove, was picked up for a similar tail light violation and for speeding 55 mph in a 35 mile zone.

Marriett claimed a tail light had been ordered at Sears in Elgin, but Judge Neumann reminded him that "a tail light on order was not the same as a tail light on a car."

The court ruled $5 plus $2 plus $3, for speeding, no tail light and court costs.

If Arlington police are just as active in enforcing overparking when the new signs arrive, as they are in giving tickets for tail lights, auto stickers and U-turns, the village will collect more in fines than Palatine collects from its parking meters.

Robert Earl Camm, of Wheeling, also visited the judge for a discussion on tail lights. His model A Ford, minus back-end illumination, was stopped on State road.

Camm was fined $3 plus $3 court costs.

Two of the three other violators summoned to the Wednesday morning session were guilty of speeding.

James A. Coon, of Palatine, paid $7, court costs included, for doing 50 mph in a 30 mile zone on Route 14 and Jack Everett Kunze, also of Palatine, increased village revenue by $4 for speeding 45 mph in a 30 mile zone on US 14.

Both men were arrested by Ray Jahnke, newest addition to the police force.

A charge of reckless driving cost Kenneth A. Heinsohn, of Mundelein, an $8 fine. He told the judge he had "no particular reason" for making a u-turn at the intersection of Route 14 and Evergreen.

Patrol boys to be guests of theater, village dads

In recognition of school safety patrol day, Arlington Theater will be host to the boys and girls of the Arlington Heights patrols at the 1:30 show Saturday afternoon. Wearing of the patrol belts will be all that is needed to secure admission to the theater. Chief Skoog will distribute tickets, which, at the close of the show, will entitle bearers to a free soda or sundae at one of the local fountains.

THE ICE CREAM treat is a contribution by members of the village board. Members of the patrol should reach the theater 15 minutes before show time in order that a picture can be taken.

Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Chief Skoog, will sponsor a special trip for the patrols as soon as the weather permits.

"The efficiency of the school patrol system is evidenced by the freedom of accidents," R. E. Clabaugh, principal of Arlington Heights grade schools, stated Tuesday. "The boys are largely on their own, but I think they are doing a good job.

THE WORK of the boys and girls wearing the white belts is primarily for the protection of the younger children. Chief Skoog at the beginning of the school year outlines to the patrol members their duties and what is expected of them.

Announcement will be sent to parents in Scarsdale this week regarding crossing protection at State road and Park street, which has been adopted as the "crossing" street for school children of that area. Chief Skoog, representing the police department, and Mr. Clabaugh, school principal, have worked out a safety plan whereby school children attending the South school, will not ride their bikes on State road because of the left hand turn that would be necessary. They will cross at Park street, at which the police department will protect as much as possible.

Because of the distance of this corner from the South school, it is not possible to station a patrol boy there.

Softball game to benefit blind vet

A special softball game with free refreshments for the benefit of John Martin, blind veteran, will be held this Sunday at 12 o'clock in Arlington Heights when the Arlington Bowling Lanes Jolly Boys oppose Turf Biliards, champions of the local softball league. Though no admission will be charged, a collection will be taken for the benefit of John Martin, blind veteran now in the midst of building a home on the edge of Arlington Heights.

An infield reminiscent of the Chicago Bears football team is sure to cover plenty of ground for the Jolly Boys. The six men slated for the close-in positions total 1390 pounds, an average of 231 pounds per man.

King Engelking heads the aggregation at 250, followed by Bud Peter at 245. Then come Ray Mayer at 245, Dick Schaefer at 230, Art Bentz at 225, and Everett Lingren at an even 200.

Traveling bank back at Johnson's for John Martin fund

The traveling bank which gained such reknown during the war is back at Mar Johnson's, 17 E .Campbell, Arlington Hts. Funds dropped into the bank will go to the John Martin fund, established for the benefit of the war veteran who is now completely blind.

Palatine Lions has sent a check for $100 as its contribution to the fund. Mr. Martin has been a resident of Palatine until he started to build his home in Arlington. Roy LaLonde, Palatine realtor, has sent a check for $25.00.

Employees of Paddock Publications kick-in on Martin fund

Employees of Paddock Publications are donating an hour of this week's pay check to the John Martin fund. The suggestion came from one of the boys in the composing room. A few minutes later a notice appeared on the time clock and by evening all had signed it. The firm is duplicating the amount given by the individual employees.

"We are not all carpenters and we would not be much help in finishing that home," said the employee, "but we can at least give an hour of our pay check." The bosses thought it was a good idea and said, "count us in too; we will double whatever you fellows give."

VFW Buddy Poppy sale set for May 22

Arlington Heights VFW post No. 981 will conduct the twenty-seventh annual Buddy Poppy campaign this year on May 22.

The post is confident that Arlington citizens will do their part in aiding those who gave so much to maintain the American way of life.

Since the first VFW Buddy Poppy was sold in 1922, every President has supported the campaign, the purpose of which is to aid needy of all U. S. wars and to care for orphans and widows of those who died serving their country.

President Harding was the first to endorse the little red flower which symbolizes the Buddy Poppy slogan, "To honor the dead by helping the living." Other Presidents who endorsed the campaign: Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt and Truman.

Thousands of veterans from the Spanish-American war through World War II have received prompt and material aid because of the fine support given the Buddy Poppy campaign by patriotic Americans.

Police and school adopt safety rules for Scarsdale pupils

Suggested rules for reducing the traffic hazard for children attending South school, Arlington Heights, and living east of State road were outlined this week in a letter to parents by R. E. Clabaugh, grade school superintendent.

"Due to distance from the school building, it does not seem that sufficient supervision could be given patrol boys, if they were stationed on State road, to make it advisable to attempt to solve the problem in that way," the letter states.

According to Clabaugh and the police department, parents should urge their children to follow these rules rigidly:

1. Children residing east of State road and south of South street who ride bicycles to South school will NOT ride on State road AT ALL and will cross State road only at Park street.

This regulation is expected to eliminate the hazard required of cyclists in making a left turn to leave State road.

2. Children residing east of State road and south of South street who walk to school will cross State road ONLY at Park street.

"School crossing signs will be posted at Park and State road before school, at noon and after school by police," Clabaugh added, "and police have agreed to have a patrolman at this intersection during the times children are crossing as much as possible."

Parents are urged to instruct children to ride bicycles ONLY on the right hand side of the street and to ride single file. A village ordinance also prohibits two persons on a bicycle.

The body of Pvt. Emmerich was interred in Saipan temporary military cemetery in the Marianas. Next of kin is Mrs. Christine Emmerich, Route 1, Prairie View.

Although next of kin were notified May 3, it is expected four weeks will elapse until delivery of the remains from the Chicago center.

Due to bad weather, the time for turning in qualifying scores for Tri-city Women's Golf league, Mt. Prospect, has been extended to May 18.

Regular play will start Tuesday morning, May 25, at 9 a.m. at Mt. Prospect Country club.

Seek fathers' aid for renovating Girl Scout camp

Plans for a summertime camping program for 350 Arlington Heights Girl Scouts were presented to parents and Scouts at a Camp Rally at South school, Arlington Heights Friday, May 7.

"Establishment of Camp Pine has been the goal of the local Girl Scout council for some time," Mrs. Alva Meyer, president of Arlington Heights council stated, "and will give a complete camping program to all our girls throughout the year."

Pointing out that the camp must be put in order by June 15, when the first session begins, she called on fathers to give their time on Saturday and Sunday afternoons until the middle of June to do carpentry, painting, electrical work and cleaning.

This Saturday lunch will be served to volunteer fathers by Park Ridge council, one of the seven Girl Scout groups that will use camp facilities. Arlington Heights council will serve lunch Sunday afternoon.

There will be two sessions of day camping this year. Girl Scouts will have their day sessions from June 15 to 22 and Brownies will have camp facilities available to them June 22.

Trailer camps under supervision of county, state

In response to inquiries made of the Cook County Department of Public Health, regarding provisions for public health required of trailer camps, Paddock Publications are in receipt of a pamphlet entitled, "Regulations for the Sanitary Control of Tourist and Trailer Camps."

The rules set forth by the division of sanitary engineering are very explicit. It exercises control and requires application for approval for all camps that are designed for more than fifteen persons.

The public health authorities recommend that, where possible, water supply and sewage facilities be obtained from a public source, such as can be provided by the village of Arlington Heights. Arlington has turned down an application for connection to local sewage system by a projected camp at the intersection of Wilke road and Northwest highway. The site has city water service.

OWNERS of a 23-acre tract, adjoining the village of Arlington Heights have visions of the establishment of a trailer camp on their property. Possible objections by the village and the realization that the installation of health provisions that would be required by the state, may cause the owners to abandon their plans.

COOK COUNTY department of health recently inspected the trailer camp operated on government property south of Arlington. The department has found as inadequate much of the installation guarding the health of occupants. It has made certain recommendations to the operators of the camp, among which is repair of the sewage treatment plant which is partially inoperative; the installation of seperate toilet facilities for the trailers, apart from the barracks; a revamping of the entire sanitary set up if it is planned to expand the camp beyond fifty trailers.

The fact that the government owns the property and the housing shortage in general has held up definite action on some of the minor infractions of the present state regulations. The cooperation of the present operators of the camp can remedy conditions at this camp. The department of public health is awaiting a report from the operators as to their plans regarding possible future expansion and the remedying of present unsatisfactory conditions.

ANOTHER angle that is causing some alarm is a possible conflagration among the trailers. As one health official told Paddock Publications this week, "the people are sitting on dynamite, but at present there is no law that covers the situation. We are asking the Cook County Board to enlarge control over trailer camps that will give us greater authority over them."

UNCLE SAM pays no local taxes and Arlington Heights school system has not yet received any funds from the airport. Assessor Otto Busse has reported to the office of the county assessor the presence of the two incorporated companies operating within the government property and it is presumed that they will pay a personal property tax next year.

Fifteen children are attending Arlington Heights public schools. There are ten additional ones who will be ready for kindergarten next fall.

Homer J. Byrd wins democratic nomination for county judge

Homer J. Byrd, former Arlington resident and Democratic leader in the Chicago suburbs, is again active in politics. He was an easy winner for the Democratic nomination of county judge at Buffton, Ind. A copy of the Buffton News-Banner says that Byrd defeated his opponent two to one.

Homer has many friends in Arlington Heights, among both Republicans and Democrats. These friends do not know which party is in the ascendency in Buffton county, but are wishing their friend the best of luck.

Mr. Byrd while a resident of Arlington Heights, was a police magistrate, village alderman, assistant county superintendent of schools and county commissioner.

Conference track meet at Arlington next Wednesday night

The meet is slated for 8 p. m. under the lights with admission set at 50c and 35c. A large crowd is expected to attend.

High school adds vocal music to curriculum

Three new teachers have been given contracts at Arlington Heights township high school for the 1948-49 school year, according to Principal LeRoy Knoeppel.

William V. Boland, who received a music education degree and bachelor of fine arts from the University of S. Dakota in 1937, will teach vocal music at the high school.

This will be a new department, and Boland will be in charge of all choruses and will teach private voice during school hours at no extra cost to students.

From 1937 to 1942 Boland was music supervisor in the public schools at Bellevue, Ia., and after leaving the armed services in 1945, entered Northwestern university music school, where he will receive a masters degree in August, 1948.

His students in Iowa have placed high in Iowa state music contests in 1940, 41, and 42.

Miss Kathryn B. Remond, of Oakwood, Ill., will teach vocational and social typing and general business classes at Arlington starting next fall.

She will receive her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Illinois in June, 1948.

John Hookom, who received a B. A. degree from Illinois Wesleyan college, will teach mathematics. Hookom is a returning teacher, having taught at Arlington during the 1946-47 school year. He had resigned in 1947 to enter business, but has decided to teach again.

Hookom has had three summers of graduate work in education at the University of Iowa, taught mathematics and physics at South English, Iowa schools (1938-40), and was principal of Alden, Iowa, high school from 1940 to 41.

Radio club employee dies in car plunge off Barrington road

Otto C. Spotswood, 40, night manager of the Radio club, Chicago, and an employee of Jack Denzer at Radio Club Farm, Palatine, died Monday of chest injuries when his car plunged from Barrington road into a swollen creek during a severe thunderstorm.

His wife of a few weeks, Helen, 29, who was in the car with him, and who was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Elgin, sustained lacerations on her face and left leg and a possible skull fracture.

The Spotswoods left the Radio Club Farm, on Northwest highway near Palatine, around 12:30 a. m. As they neared the creek, 8 miles east of Elgin, Spotswood apparently lost control of the car, swerved off the road to the left, and skidded over the side into the middle of the stream, which had risen during the rainstorm.

The automobile came to a rest still upright.

The force of the plunge apparently hurled Mrs. Spotswood into the rear seat. When she regained consciousness, she crawled into the front seat, where her husband was in the driver's seat, unconscious, with the creek waters rising.

She told hospital attendants she shouted for help and, as the waters continued to rise, held her husband's head up so he would not drown.

H. C. Thurman, of Bartlett, a cattle buyer, heard Mrs. Spotswood's screams as he drove past at 5:30 a. m., more than four hours after the crash. He sought help, and state police, after forcing open a door, finally removed the couple from the car.

State police believe Spotswood was still breathing when taken from the automobile, but said he evidently did not regain consciousness before he died.

All Star show turns out great success

Those who attended the All Star show at the Arlington Theater last Thursday saw a grand finale of 24 acts, all good, and put on with a professional touch.

THE AMATEUR shows that were held the past ten weeks in Arlington Heights, were given as a non-profit making program. The director, Mrs. J. M. Bosch, her assistants, and the various businesses that furnished prizes for the shows, donated their time and gifts.

Mrs. Bosch wishes to publicly thank the following businesses for their part in making the shows a success: Baylor's Firestone Store, Sieburg Drug Co., Inc., Horath Shell Service Station, Arlington Candy Shop, Arlington Milk Distributors, and Arlington Radio and Record Shop.

ASSISTING Mrs. Bosch in directing the shows were Mrs. William Scholz, Mrs. Dorothy Ackerlund and Dick Michalski, who acted as master of ceremonies. A special thanks goes to Mrs. G. M. Eakins, who donated her time for playing the piano, Miss June Rolds and to Don Knapp for the use of the theater and the theater tickets he gave as gifts.

Mrs. Bosch expects to resume the amateur shows in the fall. In the mean time, she would like to have the boys and girls practice real hard so that they will be ready to start off with a bang in the fall.

THEATER GROUP PRESENTS 'ARSENIC AND OLD LACE'

"Arsenic and Old Lace" will be presented by the Palatine Players, a theatrical group recently organized in Palatine, Thursday and Friday, May 13 and 14, at the Palatine high school auditorium. Proceeds will benefit the youth center.

New cop; new traffic arrests in Arlington

Habitual speeders who think they "know" Arlington Heights police had a rude awakening the past week.

The new traffic officer is Raymond H. Jahnke, 30, of 123 S. State road, Arlington Heights. His duties began May 1.

As a state highway police officer he formerly issued tickets to the court of C. M. Behrens. As a village policeman, his tickets go to the attention of Judge Neuman.

During the war he was in the Army, "but I wasn't an MP," he added.

Officer Jahnke is married and has three children, Barbara, 8, Janice, 5, and Jo Ann, 3.

The other new police department employe is Richard P. Bracke 24, of 128 S. Haddow, Arlington Heights.

Bracke is the new radio policeman and is working from 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. this month. His duties also started officially May 1.

Bracke had done radio work in the Marine corps for 3½ years. He is married and has two children, Susan, 2½, and Philip, 1.

Asked how things were going with the new radio hook-up with Palatine police force, Bracke said "the hook-up is working fine."

Tax collectors report good collections

Township tax collectors opened their offices last week to meet the rush for payment of 1947 taxes.

Bills are higher and collectors, while not being blamed by the public for the tax increase, are doing lots of explaining about the new valuations, higher rates, etc.

Collectors are the only persons connected with the entire tax machinery with whom the public comes in contact, and, as a consequence, they are the boys who have to answer the questions.

William Annen, collector for Wheeling township, reports that tax collections have been "very satisfactory," and that 30 per cent of the tax bill intake has been received.

COLLECTOR Annen will be at Arlington Heights National bank every day until May 28, except May 12 and 19 when he will be at Mt. Prospect State bank. Also, he will accept tax collections at Wheeling State bank on Friday, May 14, and Wednesday, May 26.

Albert J. Kraemer, tax collector for Elk Grove township, will be at Mt. Prospect State bank every day until closing date Saturday, May 29.

However, Wednesday, May 19, he will be at Arlington Heights National bank and Thursday, May 20, at Itasca State bank.

Property owners can pay their tax bills to him at these times.

MANY PERSONS who have recently purchased property are not yet on the tax books, and bills probably went to former owners. If the old owners do not return the tax bills to the collector or forward them to new possessors, the latter should visit the tax collector for a new bill.

Attend Republican state convention

Commissioner Wm. Busse, as delegate from Elk Grove township attended the Illinois Republican convention at Springfield Monday. He reports that the old time enthusiasm was very much in evidence and is a good omen for the November election.

Wheeling township was represented by Henry A. Busse, Mar Johnson and Jack Selle.

Revised Mt. Prospect building code to specify room area

Mt. Prospect will be the first village in the northwest area to modernize its buillding code, replacing price restrictions with floor areas. The necessary changes in the code will be reported by Trustee Bayne next week, after which an ordinance will be passed. The area requirements will include the individual rooms, the ceiling heights and the complete floor area.

It has been admitted by building commissioners of neighboring towns that existing building codes are outmoded by the present high building costs. Mt. Prospect is doing something about it.

Summer home of Chicago owner burns near Palatine

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goodman Wilmette ave., (route 53) Palatine were awakened at 1:45 Sunday morning by a passing motorist who had discovered a house adjoining the Goodman's property was afire. The roof had fallen in by the time that Mr. Goodman called the Palatine Rural Fire Dept. The owners reside in Chicago, occupying their summer place a few weeks during the summer. They were there Saturday afternoon to do some work in their garden and have no idea as to the cause of the blaze.

A. H. T. H. S. class of '38 to plan reunion

The class of '38 of Arlington Heights high school, will soon make plans for a 10th anniversary picnic to be held Sunday, August 15. The forest preserve area, known as Lake Avenue Woods, East has been reserved for the occasion through the forest preserve district of Cook county.

This will be the first reunion of the class since graduation and will offer an opportunity for class members and their acquired families to renew old times.

The first general meeting for committee volunteers is scheduled for 7:30 Thursday evening, May 20, at Arlington Heights high school.

Mayor proclaims May 15 as School Safety Patrol day

One of the fundamental responsibilities of good representative government is the protection of life, limb and property of citizens.

School Safety Patrols, year in and year out, have rendered invaluable service in this field in protecting school children from the hazards of street traffic.

In full acknowledgement thereof, I publicly proclaim Saturday May 15, 1948, to be School Safety Patrol Day.

In this connection, I respectfully urge Arlington Heights residents to pause and pay due tribute to boys and girls enrolled in School Safety Patrols and to give full cooperation in this valuable traffic safety effort.

On behalf of the Village Board and Arlington Heights citizenry, I commend members of the School Safety Patrols. They are rendering distinguished service in protecting citizens of tomorrow from traffic hazards of today.

Albert W. Goedke,
Village President

Wheeling assessor to lose aid of citizens' group

There is a group of Arlington Heights men, who are wondering if they have been taken for a ride by the office of the county assessor and state revenue commission. They admit that they were too honest when they placed honest values on a lot of vacant real estate.

They are members of a citizens group serving in an advisory capacity with Assessor Studtman. They say that after the treatment given their figures by the powers that be, they are through — never again.

THEY SPENT several days in determining the realty values in Wheeling township. They adopted values at what the properties in question were bringing on the market. The office of the county assessor accepted those figures.

C. A. Hughes, Cook county farm adviser, in an article on page 21 of this issue, tells the farmers that there is very little they can do about their high tax bills. T. C. Hart in Tales of the Street (page 17) places the blame of high taxes on increased operating costs of all taxing bodies.

Along came the state department of revenue which ruled that there should be a boost in all realty figures of 1.29%. That boost made the original property values higher than the market. Assessor Studtman admits that an injustice has been done, but any remedy rests with the board of appeals.

PROPERTY owners in Scarsdale Estates have hired a law firm to represent them before the appeal board. A circular letter mailed to all property owners asks a retainer fee of $5.00 each. The final fee of the attorneys will be half the tax reduction for the first year. The property owners will also benefit by the reduction in valuation during the succeeding three years.

Mt. Prospect may ban comic books

Mayor Pendleton of Mount Prospect made an impassioned plea at the May meeting of the village board of that town Tuesday evening asking that comic books be banned from sale. Members of the board agreed with him and Attorney Opeka was instructed to prepare an ordinance prohibiting their display and sale.

The inquiring reporter of the Mt. Prospect Herald found Wednesday morning that every mother interviewed agreed with the mayor and hoped that the books would be outlawed.

Thirty door prizes offered at Cub Scout benefit party May 14

Home made cake and coffee, a chance to win one of 30 door prizes, and a good bridge game all can be had for the price of a ticket to the Cub scout benefit bridge Friday, May 14, at the public school, at 8 p.m.

Tickets at $1.00 per person are available from any cub scout, or from Mrs. Carl Bick, 1114-R.

This is an opportunity for parents to show den mothers and fathers appreciation of all the time and effort spent on their sons. It is also a chance for the community in general to help out the young boys.

All money received will be used to purchase handicraft materials for the cubs.

It's a straight, narrow path for autoists here

Tail-lights are to a car what flowers are to spring.

This was the spring song Judge Neumann sang to three of six defendants in Arlington Heights police court Wednesday morning as they appeared to confess their autos lacked the lighted tail pieces.

Lambert Brzostowski, Kensington road, Arlington Heights, was arrested by Officer Karstens on Route 14 between Vail and Evergreen for violating village ordinance 67 (tail lights on gas-propelled machines) and was fined $2 plus $3 court costs.

He also told the judge he had purchased a village license sticker for his auto since the time of his arrest, when he did not have one displayed on the car windshield.

Robert B. Marriett, of Fox River Grove, was picked up for a similar tail light violation and for speeding 55 mph in a 35 mile zone.

Marriett claimed a tail light had been ordered at Sears in Elgin, but Judge Neumann reminded him that "a tail light on order was not the same as a tail light on a car."

The court ruled $5 plus $2 plus $3, for speeding, no tail light and court costs.

If Arlington police are just as active in enforcing overparking when the new signs arrive, as they are in giving tickets for tail lights, auto stickers and U-turns, the village will collect more in fines than Palatine collects from its parking meters.

Robert Earl Camm, of Wheeling, also visited the judge for a discussion on tail lights. His model A Ford, minus back-end illumination, was stopped on State road.

Camm was fined $3 plus $3 court costs.

Two of the three other violators summoned to the Wednesday morning session were guilty of speeding.

James A. Coon, of Palatine, paid $7, court costs included, for doing 50 mph in a 30 mile zone on Route 14 and Jack Everett Kunze, also of Palatine, increased village revenue by $4 for speeding 45 mph in a 30 mile zone on US 14.

Both men were arrested by Ray Jahnke, newest addition to the police force.

A charge of reckless driving cost Kenneth A. Heinsohn, of Mundelein, an $8 fine. He told the judge he had "no particular reason" for making a u-turn at the intersection of Route 14 and Evergreen.

Patrol boys to be guests of theater, village dads

In recognition of school safety patrol day, Arlington Theater will be host to the boys and girls of the Arlington Heights patrols at the 1:30 show Saturday afternoon. Wearing of the patrol belts will be all that is needed to secure admission to the theater. Chief Skoog will distribute tickets, which, at the close of the show, will entitle bearers to a free soda or sundae at one of the local fountains.

THE ICE CREAM treat is a contribution by members of the village board. Members of the patrol should reach the theater 15 minutes before show time in order that a picture can be taken.

Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Chief Skoog, will sponsor a special trip for the patrols as soon as the weather permits.

"The efficiency of the school patrol system is evidenced by the freedom of accidents," R. E. Clabaugh, principal of Arlington Heights grade schools, stated Tuesday. "The boys are largely on their own, but I think they are doing a good job.

THE WORK of the boys and girls wearing the white belts is primarily for the protection of the younger children. Chief Skoog at the beginning of the school year outlines to the patrol members their duties and what is expected of them.

Announcement will be sent to parents in Scarsdale this week regarding crossing protection at State road and Park street, which has been adopted as the "crossing" street for school children of that area. Chief Skoog, representing the police department, and Mr. Clabaugh, school principal, have worked out a safety plan whereby school children attending the South school, will not ride their bikes on State road because of the left hand turn that would be necessary. They will cross at Park street, at which the police department will protect as much as possible.

Because of the distance of this corner from the South school, it is not possible to station a patrol boy there.

Softball game to benefit blind vet

A special softball game with free refreshments for the benefit of John Martin, blind veteran, will be held this Sunday at 12 o'clock in Arlington Heights when the Arlington Bowling Lanes Jolly Boys oppose Turf Biliards, champions of the local softball league. Though no admission will be charged, a collection will be taken for the benefit of John Martin, blind veteran now in the midst of building a home on the edge of Arlington Heights.

An infield reminiscent of the Chicago Bears football team is sure to cover plenty of ground for the Jolly Boys. The six men slated for the close-in positions total 1390 pounds, an average of 231 pounds per man.

King Engelking heads the aggregation at 250, followed by Bud Peter at 245. Then come Ray Mayer at 245, Dick Schaefer at 230, Art Bentz at 225, and Everett Lingren at an even 200.

Traveling bank back at Johnson's for John Martin fund

The traveling bank which gained such reknown during the war is back at Mar Johnson's, 17 E. Campbell, Arlington Hts. Funds dropped into the bank will go to the John Martin fund, established for the benefit of the war veteran who is now completely blind.

Palatine Lions has sent a check for $100 as its contribution to the fund. Mr. Martin has been a resident of Palatine until he started to build his home in Arlington. Roy LaLonde, Palatine realtor, has sent a check for $25.00.

Employees of Paddock Publications kick-in on Martin fund

Employees of Paddock Publications are donating an hour of this week's pay check to the John Martin fund. The suggestion came from one of the boys in the composing room. A few minutes later a notice appeared on the time clock and by evening all had signed it. The firm is duplicating the amount given by the individual employees.

"We are not all carpenters and we would not be much help in finishing that home," said the employee, "but we can at least give an hour of our pay check." The bosses thought it was a good idea and said, "count us in too; we will double whatever you fellows give."

VFW Buddy Poppy sale set for May 22

Arlington Heights VFW post No. 981 will conduct the twenty-seventh annual Buddy Poppy campaign this year on May 22.

The post is confident that Arlington citizens will do their part in aiding those who gave so much to maintain the American way of life.

Since the first VFW Buddy Poppy was sold in 1922, every President has supported the campaign, the purpose of which is to aid needy of all U. S. wars and to care for orphans and widows of those who died serving their country.

President Harding was the first to endorse the little red flower which symbolizes the Buddy Poppy slogan, "To honor the dead by helping the living." Other Presidents who endorsed the campaign: Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt and Truman.

Thousands of veterans from the Spanish-American war through World War II have received prompt and material aid because of the fine support given the Buddy Poppy campaign by patriotic Americans.

Police and school adopt safety rules for Scarsdale pupils

Suggested rules for reducing the traffic hazard for children attending South school, Arlington Heights, and living east of State road were outlined this week in a letter to parents by R. E. Clabaugh, grade school superintendent.

"Due to distance from the school building, it does not seem that sufficient supervision could be given patrol boys, if they were stationed on State road, to make it advisable to attempt to solve the problem in that way," the letter states.

According to Clabaugh and the police department, parents should urge their children to follow these rules rigidly:

1. Children residing east of State road and south of South street who ride bicycles to South school will NOT ride on State road AT ALL and will cross State road only at Park street.

This regulation is expected to eliminate the hazard required of cyclists in making a left turn to leave State road.

2. Children residing east of State road and south of South street who walk to school will cross State road ONLY at Park street.

"School crossing signs will be posted at Park and State road before school, at noon and after school by police," Clabaugh added, "and police have agreed to have a patrolman at this intersection during the times children are crossing as much as possible."

Parents are urged to instruct children to ride bicycles ONLY on the right hand side of the street and to ride single file. A village ordinance also prohibits two persons on a bicycle.

Return bodies of 3 area servicemen

The bodies of an Arlington Heights soldier, Mt. Prospect soldier, and Prairie View soldier, are among the casketed remains of 125 World War II deceased servicemen from Cook county being returned to this country for permanent burial.

The remains of Pfc. George J. Arient, Arlington Heights, are being returned aboard the army transport Lawrence Victory from Blosville cemetery, France. Next of kin is Anna Arient, Route 1, Arlington Heights.

On the same transport is the body of Cpl. Ian B. Stevens, Mt. Prospect. Next of kin is Chas. Leroy Stevens, 809 S. Ioka, Mt. Prospect. The body is being returned from LaCambe cemetery, France. Funeral services will be held from Lackore and Nichols funeral home, Morgan Park, and burial will be in Mt. Hope cemetery, Chicago.

The casketed remains of Pfc. Albert L. Emmerich, Prairie View, also will be returned within the next month through Chicago distribution center of American graves registration division. The body of Pvt. Emmerich was interred in Saipan temporary military cemetery in the Marianas. Next of kin is Mrs. Christine Emmerich, Route 1, Prairie View.

Although next of kin were notified May 3, it is expected four weeks will elapse until delivery of the remains from the Chicago center.

Due to bad weather, the time for turning in qualifying scores for Tri-city Women's Golf league, Mt. Prospect, has been extended to May 18.

Regular play will start Tuesday morning, May 25, at 9 a.m. at Mt. Prospect Country club.

Although the event is being sponsored by the band, other school organizations are taking part in the program by sponsoring booths and concessions. A fishpond will be handled by the G. A. A.; recording machine booth, Paint and Wig; fortune-telling booth, Future Farmers of America; and an animal show, Biology department.

There will be dancing in the cafeteria sponsored by the student senate, and the A club and woodshop classes will be in charge of a free-throw match and a game called Ring-a-leg.

The band will have charge of all refreshments including popcorn, pop, hotdogs and candy, and will sponsor a milk bottle game and bingo game. The dance band will feature a booth of darts and a ring toss game.

One of the big events of the evening will be selection of a carnival queen from one of five candidates nominated by high school pupils. Each class and the band chose one senior girl.

Candidates are Rosita Allen, freshman class nominee; Virginia Tidd, sophomore; Joan LaMar, juniors; Pat Peterson, seniors; and Nancy Nichols, band.

A jar with each girl's name has been placed in the school halls, and candidates may be voted for by dropping pennies into a jar, each penny counting one vote.

The queen, who will be announced at the carnival, also will reign over the conference track meet on May 19. Prizes will be given her and her attendants.

Bob Daggett is general chairman for the carnival. Committee chairmen are Pat Dunavan, novelties; Bill Lathen, refreshments; Don Dewey, clean-up; Norman Spratt, throwing games; Loren Hollenback, booths; and Andrea Kennedy and Phoebe Ellis, publicity.

Seek fathers' aid for renovating Girl Scout camp

Plans for a summertime camping program for 350 Arlington Heights Girl Scouts were presented to parents and Scouts at a Camp Rally at South school, Arlington Heights Friday, May 7.

"Establishment of Camp Pine has been the goal of the local Girl Scout council for some time," Mrs. Alva Meyer, president of Arlington Heights council stated, "and will give a complete camping program to all our girls throughout the year."

Pointing out that the camp must be put in order by June 15, when the first session begins, she called on fathers to give their time on Saturday and Sunday afternoons until the middle of June to do carpentry, painting, electrical work and cleaning.

This Saturday lunch will be served to volunteer fathers by Park Ridge council, one of the seven Girl Scout groups that will use camp facilities. Arlington Heights council will serve lunch Sunday afternoon.

There will be two sessions of day camping this year. Girl Scouts will have their day sessions from June 15 to 22 and Brownies will have camp facilities available to them June 22.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 9, was:

"ADAM AND FALLEN MAN"

The Golden Text was:

"If thou return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up, thou shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacles" (Job 22: 23).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible:

"Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? . . . . Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us, For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come . . . . shall be able to separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus" (Romans 8: 35,37-39)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The Son of the Virgin-mother unfolded the remedy for Adam, or error; and the Apostle Paul explains this warfare between the idea of divine power, which Jesus presented, and mythological material intelligence called energy and opposed to Spirit . . . . The real man, being linked by Science to his Maker, mortals need only turn from sin and lose sight of mortal selfhood to find Christ, the real man and his relation to God, and to recognize his divine sonship . . . The perfect man—governed by God, his perfect Principle,—is sinless and eternal" (pp. 534, 316, 304).

Mildred Gosch, Wilfred Busse are 'man and wife'

A double ring, candlelight ceremony, held May 1, at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, united in holy wedlock Miss Mildred E. Gosch and Wilfred Busse. Reverand Luther V. Stephan read the marriage vows. Miss Gosch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Gosch of Arlington Heights and Mr. Busse is the son of Mrs. Selma Busse of Des Plaines.

The church was decorated with baskets of white carnations and snapdragons for the ceremony. "Because" and "O Perfect Love" were sung by Elda Hofeldt, who was accompanied at the organ by Ottomar Kolb.

Miss Gosch chose a gown of traditional ivory satin, which was trimmed in lace and ended in a train. She wore a fingertip veil, which dropped from a pearl trimmed tiara. Calla lilies made up the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Pearl Joost, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was dressed in a yellow satin colonial gown and carried a colonial bouquet made up of tea roses, yellow carnations and yellow daisies, tied with a changeable rose-yellow taffeta ribbon.

Bridesmaids were LaVerne Meier, girlfriend of the bride; Dolores Freitag, cousin of the bride; and Sylvia Busse, sister of the bridegroom. They were all attired in aqua gowns, styled as the matron of honor's. Their flowers were also like the matron of honor's, except that they were tied with yellow satin ribbons.

Dolores Gosch served as flower girl and was dressed identical to the matron of honor, except that she had a hoop skirt, and carried a basket filled with yellow daisies, yellow carnations and tea roses. Chuckie Gosch, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer. He wore a tux with tails and carried the rings on a heart shaped pillow.

Best man for the bridegroom was Wallace A. Busse, with Howard Oehlerking, Waldo Junge, and Raymond Gosch serving as ushers.

The bride's mother wore an aqua dress for the occasion, and the bridegroom's mother was also attired in an aqua dress. They both wore corsages of pink carnations.

Four hundred guests attended the wedding reception, which was held at the Wheeling gymnasium. A midnight supper completed the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Busse enjoyed a weeks honeymoon at Niagara Falls and are now making their home with the bride's parents on South State road, Arlington Heights.

Everyone interested in missions is invited to attend.

After having traveled over most of the United States, the Boschs chose Arlington Heights as "the town they would be most happy to settle down in."

Howard Wittenburg is employed by Kiehl Engineering company, a tool and die making concern in Franklin Park, and commutes to work. His wife says he is mechanic-minded and hopes to have a "putter shop" (workshop) in the basement someday.

Naomi Grismer honored at bridal shower

A miscellaneous bridal shower, given by Mrs. Alvin Moehling at the Moehling home on Golf road, was given May 7, in honor of Miss Naomi Grismer of Arlington Heights.

Leona Wiserky, Lowell Plant exchange vows

Community Camera

The lilac and tulip banked altar of the St. James Catholic church, Arlington Heights, formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Leona Wisersky and Lowell Plant, who were married last Saturday morning at a 9:30 nuptial mass. Their marriage vows were repeated after Rev. John Lauer, who officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Wisersky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wisersky, and Mr. Plant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Plant ,all of Arlington Heights.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by the St. James children's choir, who sang the mass, and by Mrs. Russell Frederickson of Oak Park, aunt and godmother of the bride. She sang "Ave Marie" by Grunow, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," and "Parris Angelicus."

Gowned in a dress of slipper satin the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her dress was copied from her grandmother's wedding dress, and mas made by her aunt, Mrs. William Miller of Maywood. It was styled with fitted bodice, having square neckline and large square collar. A ruffle, edged in net from her veil, encircled the skirt in the front at the hemline, and ended in the back at the waistline with a large bow. Her veil was of French illusion and fell from a beaded coronet. She carried a prayer book, bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley, which were tied with white satin ribbon.

Maid of honor for the bride was Miss Marie Tischer, who wore a dress of yellow dotted organdy styled like the bride's. Blue iris, tied with pale blue satin ribbon, made up her bouquet. Miss Tischer also wore a halo hat to match her dress, which was tied with a large bow and dropped streamers down the back.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Vonie Horn and Mrs. Arlene Kline, who wore dresses identical to the maid of honor's, carried the same kind of flowers, and wore the same type of hat. The bride's attendants' dresses were also made and designed by Mrs. Miller. The girls all wore strings of pearls.

Dean Rickie, of Forest Park, cousin of the groom, served as ring bearer and carried the rings to the altar on a lace pillow.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Donald Plant, as best man, with Thomas Wisersky, brother of the bride, and William Kline, serving as ushers.

Mrs. Wisersky chose to wear a grey dress with lilac and black accessories, for her daughter's wedding, while the groom's mother was attired in a pink dress with grey and black accessories. They each wore red rose corsages. The bride's grandmother wore a brown print dress, with brown accessories, and the groom's grandmother wore a blue print dress, with black accessories. Both had white carnation corsages.

A wedding breakfast was held at the Legion home for the immediate family and in the evening a reception was held at the Legion home with 225 guests attending. The large wedding cake, which was the center of attraction at the reception, was decorated with wax hands, which were 56 years old and had been the cake decoration at the wedding of the bride's grandmother. The hands were clasped together, and edged at the wrists with lace taken from the bride's mother's wedding dress. A cousin of the bride, Shirley Downey of Decatur, gave a novelty dance at the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Plant are honeymooning at Turkey Run, Indiana and will be at home after May 15 in their own apartment, 229 S. Walnut street, Arlington Heights.

Plans Men's night

The Fridy Book Review club of Arlington Heights will hold Men's Night June 4, at 8:15 p. m. Please make reservations with Mrs. John Kent not later than at the May 28 review.

Mrs. Kent will also have next year's membership tickets at this meeeting.

Florence Nightingale says 'I do' to Robert Kehe

Community Camera

Miss Florence Nightingale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Nightingale, Elk Grove, and Robert Kehe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kehe, Arlington Heights, weer married May 8, at the St. John Lutheran church of Elk Grove. A wedding sermon was given by the groom's uncle, Rev. Rudolph Geffert, and the marriage vows were repeated after Rev. F. L. Gehrs, who performed the ceremony.

The double ring, candlelight ceremony was performed before the altar, which was decorated with candelabra and baskets of yellow snapdragons. Paul Meeske presided at the organ during the processional and recessional, while Ottomar Kolb accompanied Miss Norene Winkelman, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

A white satin dress, styled with fitted bodice, having a V neckline and long sleeves ending in a point, and full skirt ending in a train, made up the bride's attire. This was accentuated by a fingertip veil fastened to a beaded tiara, and an orchid, surrounded by streamers of lilies of the valley perched atop a white prayer book. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Elaine Kehe, served as maid of honor. Her dress was made of imported orchid dotted swiss, fashioned with high neckline and ruffle giving a drop shoulder effect, and full skirt ending in a bustle at the back. She carried a colonial bouquet of aqua blue carnations and yellow daisies, tied with aqua blue bow, and wore a matching wreath in her hair.

Irene Nightingale, sister of the bride, acted as a junior bridesmaid, with Mrs. John Kohl, Corrine Pauling and Myrtle Behles as bridesmaids. They were dressed in aqua blue gowns, identical to the maid of honor's, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and yellow daisies, tied with pink bows, and wore matching wreaths in their hair.

The bridegroom was attended by Orland Brockmann as best man, and had Alvin Kehe, brother of the groom; Arthur Nightingale, brother of the bride; Ralph Stockel and Ralph Kehe as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for 325 guests was held at Eagle's Hall, Des Plaines. The guests enjoyed dancing to the music of the Melody Deans.

Mr. and Mrs. Kehe are now home from a short honeymoon, and have not, as yet, located a place to live.

Florence Nightingale says 'I do' to Robert Kehe

Community Camera

Miss Florence Nightingale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Nightingale, Elk Grove, and Robert Kehe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kehe, Arlington Heights, weer married May 8, at the St. John Lutheran church of Elk Grove. A wedding sermon was given by the groom's uncle, Rev. Rudolph Geffert, and the marriage vows were repeated after Rev. F. L. Gehrs, who performed the ceremony.

The double ring, candlelight ceremony was performed before the altar, which was decorated with candelabra and baskets of yellow snapdragons. Paul Meeske presided at the organ during the processional and recessional, while Ottomar Kolb accompanied Miss Norene Winkelman, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

A white satin dress, styled with fitted bodice, having a V neckline and long sleeves ending in a point, and full skirt ending in a train, made up the bride's attire. This was accentuated by a fingertip veil fastened to a beaded tiara, and an orchid, surrounded by streamers of lilies of the valley perched atop a white prayer book. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Elaine Kehe, served as maid of honor. Her dress was made of imported orchid dotted swiss, fashioned with high neckline and ruffle giving a drop shoulder effect, and full skirt ending in a bustle at the back. She carried a colonial bouquet of aqua blue carnations and yellow daisies, tied with aqua blue bow, and wore a matching wreath in her hair.

Irene Nightingale, sister of the bride, acted as a junior bridesmaid, with Mrs. John Kohl, Corrine Pauling and Myrtle Behles as bridesmaids. They were dressed in aqua blue gowns, identical to the maid of honor's, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and yellow daisies, tied with pink bows, and wore matching wreaths in their hair.

The bridegroom was attended by Orland Brockmann as best man, and had Alvin Kehe, brother of the groom; Arthur Nightingale, brother of the bride; Ralph Stockel and Ralph Kehe as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception for 325 guests was held at Eagle's Hall, Des Plaines. The guests enjoyed dancing to the music of the Melody Deans.

Mr. and Mrs. Kehe are now home from a short honeymoon, and have not, as yet, located a place to live.

Girls Organize

Groups of Chicagoland girls have taken first steps to form a Greek letter organization for girls beyond high school age which will provide a social, athletic and educational program especially for leisure hours. When the charter is granted, the new organization will immediately embrace five chapters in Chicago and suburban communities and will expand to several other communities soon afterward. The charter is being applied for through Shirley Baumgartner, Main street, Prospect.

Mt. Prospect tax collections up 20% over past years

Highest percentage of tax collections in the history of the village of Mt. Prospect is shown by the figure of 82½% collected last year.

A few years ago collections amounted to only 66%.

"This reflects the foreclosure plan that has been promoted by the village," Wm. T. Mott, finance chairman of the board of trustees, reported at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

He also reported the 1947 assessed valuation of the village at $8,069,000, an increase of only $150,000 over the previous year. As this increase includes not only new homes but also higher valuation of previously improved property, the finance committee plans an investigation to determine the number of new homes occupied April 1, 1947, and whether they are on the tax books.

Announce date for Choral society concert as June 10

This picture represents the nucleus of the Pros-pect Heights Choral Society who will present their Fourth Annual Concert Thursday evening, June 10, at the Arlington Heights Township High School.

The Prospect Heights Choral Society has announced that it will present its Fourth Annual Spring Concert, June 10 at 8:00 p. m. at the Arlington Heights high school.

The concert program will include a group of folk songs, a group of selections from H. M. S. Pinafore and two other groups. Guest soloist will be the well known Dale W. Gilbert.

The Choral Society has earned an excellent reputation during the past few years having made many guest appearances before many civic organizations, in Arlington Heights, Palatine and Prospect Heights. Its membership includes singers from several communities.

DIRECTION is under the competent leadership of Mrs. Phyllis D. Snetsinger, of Arlington Heights. Rehearsals are held weekly on Monday evenings at the Prospect Heights school. Mrs. Neal Dean, of Palatine, will be the accompanist for the concert.

Tickets for the concert will be 50 cents and may be obtained from any members of the Choral Society.

Mrs. Snetsinger took over the directorship of the group early in 1947 and has blended the organizations' voices, improved and choral singing ablity. She is the holder of two music degrees— Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Music Education — and has had Artists instruction under Madame Rive-King. She has taught public school music for many years and is currently accompanying at Lions township high school in La Grange. For two years Mrs. Snetsinger directed the National American Ladies Auxiliary quartet which took first honors at Boston, Mass. and Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Snetsinger's success as a director comes from her fine personality, vivid imagination, amazing vitality and an enthusiasm that reaches out to all with whom she works. Her marvelous sense of humor has tended to make the hardest rehearsal a real pleasure.

Kupple Klub Knotes

The annual May banquet of the Kuppie Klub of the Arlington Heights Methodist church will be held at the church Friday, May 14, at 6:45 p. m. A committee, headed by Mrs. W. Lathen and Mrs. F. Sweet, have planned a delicious menu.

The tables for the banquet will be decorated by Mrs. M. Reis, who will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ogren. They will make corsages to be presented to each lady.

Marvin Prellberg has arranged for a professional magician, Joe Palen, to perform some of his special tricks to delight and entertain the group.

This banquet is restricted to members only. Guests are always welcome to attend regular meetings, the next one being held May 22.

High school newspaper cited for treatment of Brotherhood Week

The Cardinal, weekly newspaper published at Arlington Heights township high school, won a citation this week for the best newspaper treatment of Brotherhood Week in its February 20, 1948, issue.

The citation was awarded the high school at an assembly Wednesday morning, May 12, by Wells Burnette, associate director at the Chicago office of the American Brotherhood group, National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Almost all of the high schools in the Chicago area participated in the contest sponsored by the Brotherhood group.

The citation reads, in part, "The National Conference of Christians and Jews awards this certificate of merit to Arlington Heights Township High School for excellence of the issue of its School Paper which featured American Brotherhood Week, February, 1948."

Newspaper entries were judged by students in English in a course on "The Contemporary Press" at Vassar college.

"We feel very proud of our newspaper and its fine treatment on this subject," Principal Knoeppel stated, "and student newspaper members are to be commended for bringing this honor to Arlington."

The main article in the February 20 issue of The Cardinal, featuring Brotherhood Week observance, states:

"Posters, a library display, a special issue of the Cardinal, an assembly program, and units on racial understanding in the history classes are AHTHS contributions to American Brotherhood Week (February 22-29).

"This movement sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, is designed to encourage mutual respect and brotherhood both in America and throughout the world.

"All over the United States schools, churches and communities are planning pageants and musical programs, cartoons, posters, book displays and special brotherhood publications.

"The subject of the organization is stated in its motto, 'Brotherhood, Pattern for Peace'. President Truman urges that Brotherhood Week be observed not only from February 22 to February 29, but throughout the year."

Another related front page story reports on poster work done in art classes to depict the brotherhood idea and a third story gives an interview of Miss Louise Youngren, journalism teacher, through whom "the newspaper staff was able to put out this issue of the Cardinal, featuring Brotherhood Week."

Two editorials on the second page are titled "Are You Intolerant?" and "Are you the person who is always right?" A third editorial quotes the winning essay of a Minneapolis, Minn. high school student on brotherhood.

"Fight Prejudice" is the title of an inquiring reporter type of article found on page 3 of the February 20 issue in which students replied to "What do you think students should do to fight racial and religious prejudices?" and still another story features Negro contributions to US culture.

Firemen called To Milk Truck Accident Tuesday

Bloomingdale volunteer firemen were called to man their truck a few minutes after 6 a. m. Tuesday morning when an alarm was sounded after a big milk truck failed to make the curve at Morse station west of the village, and burst into flames after hurdling a 12 foot embankment.

THE TRUCK belonged to the Durr Milk Transport and was bound for Chicago with 2,500 gallons of milk. Ed J. Schmidt, Spring Grove, the driver, said the fluid started to shift as he took the curve at a pretty good speed. He tried to straighten the heavy trailer truck out, but it left the embankment crashing into a public service powerline pole and finally came to a stop in the soft muck in an adjoining pasture. Schmidt, who leaped from the cab when the truck burst into flames, escaped without a scratch.

THE BLOOMINGDALE department worked about 45 minutes extinguishing the blaze. A wrecking crew worked all morning dragging the truck back upon the pavement. The cab and motor truck were nearly a total wreck, seared by fire and badly damaged. The estimated loss was placed around $10,000. Some places in Bloomingdale were without lights until Public Service, which got on the job early, restored the broken lines.

May breakfast

A May breakfast was held last Saturday morning in honor of Mrs. Kenneth Gregory and Mrs. Frank Foster, both of whom are kindergarten teachers at the North school. The breakfast, given by Mrs. Henry Busse, was attended by 25 guests. Mrs. Roy Fiddler poured.

After the breakfast was served a baby bassinet, filled with gifts, was wheeled in front of the two guests of honor. They both received many lovely gifts to use when they receive their visit from the stork.

NW Community group at field house Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Northwest Community Improvement Group, the neighborhood organization covering the area north of the Northwest Highway from the Arlington Heights high school west to the village limits, will be held in the Arlington field house, at 8 p. m., next Tuesday, May 18.

In addition to the regular business session, a new slate of officers for the ensuing year will be elected and the formal session will be followed by an informal get-together at which refreshments will be served.

The nominating committee of Albert Ernst, chairman, John Baker and Joseph McMath will present two slates of officers for the choice of the group. Mr. Ernst pointed out that an effort has been made to select the nominees so that all the divisions of the geographical area covered by the organization will be represented.

THE RETIRING president, Harry Robinson, will report on a recent meeting between officers of the Northwest Community organization and officers of neighborhood groups from other Arlington Heights subdivisions, at which problems of concern to residents of all the newer subdivisions of Arlington Heights were discussed.

Franklin K. Hauff, outgoing treasurer of the organization, will report on the results of the current membership drive, which has already seen a substantial number of the residents of the community enrolling to obtain the benefits of mutual assistance on matters of community-wide interest.

DURING THE past year the Northwest Community Improvement Group has grown from a relatively small association, formed by residents of the streets originally occupied in Arlington Park, until the membership now encompasses a large fraction of all the residents of Arlington Park and of the Arlington Ridge subdivision as well. At least 140 families now live in the community covered by the organization, officers pointed out, and all these families are eligible for membership in the organization. Husbands and wives alike were urged by President Robinson, to attend next Tuesday's meeting.

In the last year the Northwest Community organization's activities have included repeated meetings with members of the Arlington Heights village board, especially on matters affecting zoning and interpretations of the local building code; work with the village authorities to obtain street lights and signs; actions to help curb speeding and reckless driving; consultations on local transportation, and volunteer efforts to collect funds for local village organizations.

MEMBERS of the organization have also seen to the cutting of weeds on vacant property in the neighborhood, and have actively participated in such village activities as the annual summer carnival.

The outgoing officers are expected to volunteer to continue to serve on committees to further the organization's current policies.

Mt. Prospect tax collections up 20% over past years

Highest percentage of tax collections in the history of the village of Mt. Prospect is shown by the figure of 82½% collected last year.

A few years ago collections amounted to only 66%.

"This reflects the foreclosure plan that has been promoted by the village," Wm. T. Mott, finance chairman of the board of trustees, reported at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening.

He also reported the 1947 assessed valuation of the village at $8,069,000, an increase of only $150,000 over the previous year. As this increase includes not only new homes but also higher valuation of previously improved property, the finance committee plans an investigation to determine the number of new homes occupied April 1, 1947, and whether they are on the tax books.

The Prospect Heights Choral Society has announced that it will present its Fourth Annual Spring Concert, June 10 at 8:00 p. m. at the Arlington Heights high school.

The concert program will include a group of folk songs, a group of selections from H. M. S. Pinafore and two other groups. Guest soloist will be the well known Dale W. Gilbert.

The Choral Society has earned an excellent reputation during the past few years having made many guest appearances before many civic organizations, in Arlington Heights, Palatine and Prospect Heights. Its membership includes singers from several communities.

DIRECTION is under the competent leadership of Mrs. Phyllis D. Snetsinger, of Arlington Heights. Rehearsals are held weekly on Monday evenings at the Prospect Heights school. Mrs. Neal Dean, of Palatine, will be the accompanist for the concert.

Tickets for the concert will be 50 cents and may be obtained from any members of the Choral Society.

Mrs. Snetsinger took over the directorship of the group early in 1947 and has blended the organizations' voices, improved and choral singing ablity. She is the holder of two music degrees— Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Music Education — and has had Artists instruction under Madame Rive-King. She has taught public school music for many years and is currently accompanying at Lions township high school in La Grange. For two years Mrs. Snetsinger directed the National American Ladies Auxiliary quartet which took first honors at Boston, Mass. and Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Snetsinger's success as a director comes from her fine personality, vivid imagination, amazing vitality and an enthusiasm that reaches out to all with whom she works. Her marvelous sense of humor has tended to make the hardest rehearsal a real pleasure.

Venom of Bees and Wasps

It is not generally known that the "venom" of bees and wasps is not the same. The effect of a bee sting upon humans is definitely toxic, acting upon the heart and circulation, and although believed to be a cure for rheumatic disorders may cause the death of the person stung. A wasp sting, on the other hand, has no ill effect other than to cause local swelling and pain about the place of puncture. Wasp "venom" is formic acid, but what definitely constitutes the venom of the bee has yet to be discovered.

Palatine parking meters take $795; bill, $11,281.50

A report made to Palatine village board Monday night showed the meter take by weeks up to last Friday as follows: $55.89, $123.65, $128.17, $116.50, $119.67, $121.50 and $130.20.

This is a total of $795.59 since the installation of the machines.

A bill from the meter company for $11,281.50 for 185 meters also was presented at the meeting.

The meter company gets one-half the proceeds of the meters until they are paid for.

Village officials are hopeful that with the installation of more meters, after the construction of new business buildings, the "take" from the meters will improve.

They are satisfied at present to get the salary of one police office out of the village share of meter revenue.

Venom of Bees and Wasps

It is not generally known that the "venom" of bees and wasps is not the same. The effect of a bee sting upon humans is definitely toxic, acting upon the heart and circulation, and although believed to be a cure for rheumatic disorders may cause the death of the person stung. A wasp sting, on the other hand, has no ill effect other than to cause local swelling and pain about the place of puncture. Wasp "venom" is formic acid, but what definitely constitutes the venom of the bee has yet to be discovered.

St. John's Mission entertains Bishop

The Right Reverend Wallace Conkling, Bishop of the diocese of Chicago, visited St. John's Episcopal mission, Mount Prospect, last Sunday, to administer the sacrament of confirmation. Rev. Howard E. Ganster, formerly of Waukegan and one time dean of the Lake Shore Deanery, presented a class of eight confirmees to the Bishop.

At the conclusion of the beautiful traditional service the Bishop spoke to the congregation. The Evening Guild served tea after the service, which was in honor of the Bishop and the confirmees. Mrs. George Price, Arlington Heights, Mrs. Arthur Skelton and Mrs. Edwin Baskin, both Mount Prospect, and Mrs. William Watson, Prospect Heights, who is president of the Woman's Auxiliary, poured the tea and coffee.

DEAN GANSTER

The table was attractively set with silver and crystal and a centerpiece of red and white snapdragons.

Mrs. Foster Beamsley, Mount Prospect, chairman of the tea committee, was assisted by Miss Betty Miles, Mrs. Alfred Hall, Mrs. Peter Jacobsen, Mrs. Herbert Haynsworth, Mrs. Allen Drachman, Mrs. George Adam and Mrs. C. Earl Woodard, all of Arlington Heights; Mrs. Robert George and Mrs. Curtis Parsons of Prospect Heights; and Mrs. Joseph Watt and Mrs. Theodore Thornton of Mount Prospect.

After the tea, the Bishop met with the Bishop's committee to discuss plans for future expansion and building.

Garden and flower show in Mt. Prospect

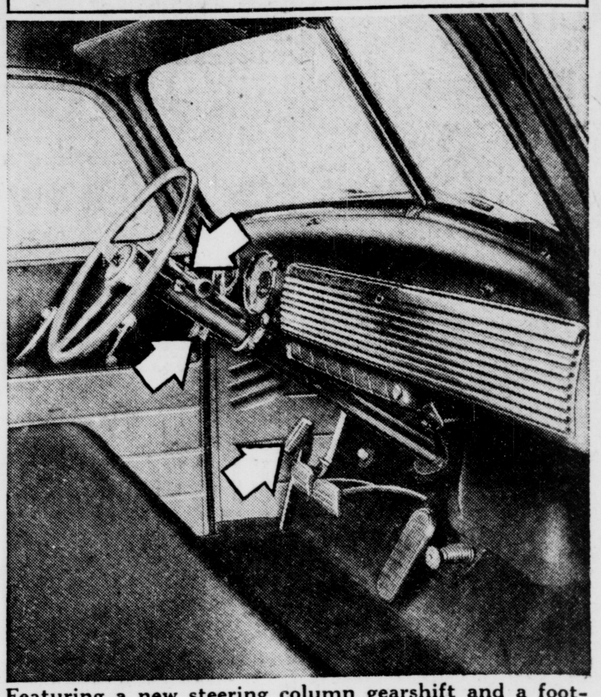
Tickets are now available for the 10th annual garden and flower show sponsored by Mt. Prospect Woman's club to be held at the public school June 12.

Each member is being asked to take three tickets, but extras may be had from Mrs. A. V. Jefferson, 1204-W.

Everyone in the community is invited to participate in this affair. It is not limited to Woman's club members. Classification schedules will be printed shortly, but in the meantime an article appears on page three of this paper each week explaining some phase of the show.

"We would especially like to have newcomers exhibit in the flower arrangement and table settings classes," said Mrs. S. G. Kline, general chairman of the show. "Flowers used in these artistic classes do not have to be home grown, but can be from someone else's garden or even from the florist. We will be glad to help anyone find the flowers they need."

Last Word for Truck Drivers



Featuring a new steering column gearshift and a foot-operated parking brake with hand-pull release, GMC's 1948 light duty models in the FC-100 and 150 series provide greatly increased driving and parking ease, more leg room and easier exit and entrance from either side. For smooth, clashless shifting, these models also have a re-designed 3-speed Syncro-Mesh transmission. A completely new 4-speed Syncro-Mesh transmission, offered as standard equipment on the heavier FC-250 through 350 series, is optionally available for the lighter models.

St. John's Evening Guild card party proves success

The recent card party held at the Arlington Heights field house, and under the sponsorship of the Evening Guild of the St. John Episcopal church, Mount Prospect, proved a huge success. This party was under the leadership of Rev. Howard E. Ganster, who is a true and inspiring master of ceremonies.

The door prizes, which were so generously donated by mer,-chants industrialists and friends of St. John's, were solicited by all members of the Guild, and arranged by Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, chairman, assisted by Mesdames Joseph Watt, Fred Sargent, R. A. Geddes and Curtis Parsons.

A complete list of donors will be found in a courtesy ad elsewhere in this paper.

Mrs. Will Colinar, Mrs. Alan Armstrong and Mrs. Russel Thomas and their committee, who so attractively served the refreshments for the evening are to be commended. The cakes were given by members of the Guild and Auxiliary.

Mrs. Curtis Parsons and her committee capably arranged all the tables for bridge and other games. Miss Betty Miles, assisted by Mrs. George Adam, Mrs. Arthur Olson, and Mrs. Arvid Carlson, were in charge of reservations and finances.

Mrs. Joseph Watt, the Ways and Means chairman, wishes to thank all those who so ably assisted her in making this outstanding project a success. Mrs. Arthur Olson expresses her thanks for the poster making to Mrs. Joseph Haynsworth and Miss Alice Olson, and to Paddock Publications for local publicity.

The Arlington branch of the Evening Guild extends their appreciation to the Arlington Park board for the use of the field-house, and to church members in Prospect Heights and Mt. Prospect whose splendid cooperation was deeply appreciated.

Railroad Tax Objections Hit Six Local Schools

Recent reports from the office of Lewis V. Morgan, county superintendent of schools, indicate that most of the railroads operating in DuPage county are continuing with tax objections against the schools and municipalities of the county.

Total objections in the north DuPage area are as follows: District 1, Lincoln school, $116.04; District 2, Bensenville elementary school, $1306.35; District 7, Wood Dale school, $96.05; District 10, Itasca, $203.23; District 11, Medinah, $94.44; District 12, Roselle, $338.85.

WHILE THE sum total in any one district may be a small figure, it represents that much less income which the school concerned will receive unless they go to court to contest it or otherwise have the objection overruled.

The Bensenville schools, according to officials, for the past two years have invited representatives from the legal department of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad to investigate the Board of Education books and budgets before the time of the public hearings. In spite of these efforts, they say, to eliminate these tax objections and the close observance of the state school code and instructions from the revenue department in the formulation of school budgets, these objections are continued.

ONE ITEM in the high school district 100 budget, the payment of fire insurance on buildings out of building funds call for a protest in the amount of $48.94. The legislature last June validated such charges against the building fund, and a joint committee of railroad and state school board representatives agreed that no further such objections should be raised, the school says.

The same holds true for an objection completely, dropped one year ago and renewed this year against school district 2, bond issue of 1930 against the original Tioga building bonds. The validity of the ballot in that election is still contested since it read "for" and "against" instead of "yes" and "no".

THESE OBJECTIONS do not seem to be aimed at any good constructive program for school budget improvement, according to school officials, but do constitute a continuing petty nuisance in school operation.

WHILE THE sum total in any one district may be a small figure, it represents that much less income which the school concerned will receive unless they go to court to contest it or otherwise have the objection overruled.

The Bensenville schools, according to officials, for the past two years have invited representatives from the legal department of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad to investigate the Board of Education books and budgets before the time of the public hearings. In spite of these efforts, they say, to eliminate these tax objections and the close observance of the state school code and instructions from the revenue department in the formulation of school budgets, these objections are continued.

ONE ITEM in the high school district 100 budget, the payment of fire insurance on buildings out of building funds call for a protest in the amount of $48.94. The legislature last June validated such charges against the building fund, and a joint committee of railroad and state school board representatives agreed that no further such objections should be raised, the school says.

The same holds true for an objection completely, dropped one year ago and renewed this year against school district 2, bond issue of 1930 against the original Tioga building bonds. The validity of the ballot in that election is still contested since it read "for" and "against" instead of "yes" and "no".

THESE OBJECTIONS do not seem to be aimed at any good constructive program for school budget improvement, according to school officials, but do constitute a continuing petty nuisance in school operation.

CONFERENCE ATHLETES SET SIGHTS ON LEAGUE MEETS

NW squads to run next week at Palatine

by G. A. McELROY

Palatine's well balanced track team is favored to win the Northwest conference meet to be held on Ost Field in Palatine next Thursday night, May 20. The Pirates appear good enough to place in every event on the program and get two men in the points in at least half of the individual events. Chief competition for Palatine may come from Grant, winner of the class "B" division of the Palatine Relays. Then again it may be Antioch whose two stars, Mattson and Kraft, have been out due to ineligibility but are expected back. Barrington has been coming up and may be a real factor in the meet. Bensenville has too few boys to cut much of a figure.

Coach Welty has several boys who will be out to win firsts. Spoo in the shot and discus, Stephan in the dashes and broad jump, Steinbrinck in the high jump and hurdles, Orzolek in the high hurdles, and Newport in the 440 and 880 and Hestrup in the pole vault, will carry the main responsibility of winning points for Palatine.

GRANT WILL depend upon Fred Becker to win the 100, 220 and broad jump and Sheplar, Carlson, Kirkpatrick and Koch to pick up additional points. On paper Grant does not have enough balance to win the meet. Antioch has Mattson, a very good hurdler and broad jump; Kraft, a good pole vaulter; January and Buchta, good distance runners; and Kuligowski in the weights.

Barrington is doped to win second place in the conference on the strength of Baumann in the dashes; Kranz, an all round performer good for three places; VanSteendren in the weights; Larson in the 880 and mile; and Frey, Brandt, and other events. Barrington may not win any first places but should place a lot of men farther down. Bensenville has a fine weight man in Pittman who will probably win the shot and place near the top in the discus. Kurz will do well in the 440 and Thies who qualified for the state meet in the high jump may surprise in that event as he did in the district meet.

THE MEET will be a twilight affair starting at 6:00 p. m. Awards will be made for five places in the individual events and three places in the relays. The only relays are a freshman 440, a varsity 880, and a mile medley. Bob Pratt of Barrington will be the meet starter. Student tickets are being sold in all the schools at 30c. All tickets the night of the meet will be 60c.

Hasemans open play Thursday

Haseman Truckers, Palatine's entry in the Arlington Heights softball league opens play this Thursday night, May 13, when they meet Pape and Guenther squad at 7 p. m. at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights.

It is now definitely known that Emmett Doyle, Haseman's star pitcher of last year, will be on hand to twirl for the locals. After cutting off two fingers of his left hand at the first joint, it was feared Doyle might not be able to compete this season.

However, Doyle is a right hander and his physician has given the o. k. for him to pitch.

NEXT GAME for the Haseman aggregation is slated for May 23 at Arlington when the locals meet Rivera at 7 p. m. There are six teams in the league this year, with every squad meeting twice in each round.

Haseman won the second round last year, only to lose in the playoff to Rose-Lo, winner of the first segment.

Eddies Liquors Downs Hartman's shoe store in golf league

Eddies Liquors cold weather golfers swept 8 points from Hartman's Shoe to move into a tie for 1st place with the Bowling Lanes team in the Arlington Heights golf league.

E. Simmons shot a sterling 31 to take the low gross honors, while G. Kusch's 32 took low net.

The team standings after the second night of play are as follows:

Arlington Bowling Lanes	13
Eddies Liquors	13
Drewes Electric	10

Kitty Korner	9
Dunteman's Dairy	7½
Lindgrens Men's Wear	7½

MACS SAYS

BY GERALD McELROY

The Northeast conference made an excellent showing in state district track this past week-end. In fact year by year the league has been getting tougher in track and sending more and more men to the state meet. The best track schools are the three outcasts who will be without a league after this month. We refer to Arlington Heights who scored 31 1-5 points to take third in the Evanston district, Niles with 20½ points who finished fourth in the same meet, and Leyden who scored 17½ points at the Riverside district.

Berschet, Clark, Heiniger, Permer Star in districts

Each of the three schools had a double winner in the district who will compete in two events at Champaign Friday and Saturday. Marvin Berschet of Arlington, was the star of the Evanston meet with first in shot and discus. His 51 feet 5 inches in the shot was a remarkable record. Berschet will be a strong threat at the state in both events. Byron Clark of Leyden, won both the 100 and 220 at Riverside. Clark ran the 100 in :10.2 and the 220 in :22.5. Clark placed in the state meet last year.

Jim Heiniger of Niles won the Evanston meet high hurdles in :15.5 and tied for first in the pole vault. His team mate Permer took seconds in both dashes and will compete in both at the state meet. Payne of Lake Forest got a second in the discus to earn a trip to Champaign. Leyden's Robert Zelenka was second in the 880 at Riverside in a very fast race won in 1:59.9. Don Roque of Leyden tied for second in the pole vault giving Leyden three state competitors.

Cards had six third places in district meet

Arlington had a number of boys who placed just out of the select group of firsts and seconds who get another chance at Champaign. Arlington boys who just missed the state meet trip were Schimmel who got third in the high hurdles; Gronert, third in the 880; Robinson, third in the pole vault; Schaeffer, third in the 100 yard dash; Shanley, third in the discus; and the relay team which finished third. This was the best district showing ever made by Arlington and makes the Cardinals even greater favorites to win the last Northeast meet to which they will be host next week Wednesday night.

Palatine's Stephan Goes to State in low hurdles

When a Northwest conference school sends a boy to the state meet it is a real accomplishment. This year only one Northwest school scored in district competition. Palatine scored at Evanston with three men and qualified Harold Stephan for the state meet with a second place in the 200 yard low hurdles. Stephan is the first Palatine boy ever to go to the state meet in one of the shorter running events.

Stephan hurdled very little before this year but ran the low barriers in a fast :23.7 at Evanston Saturday. Hank Spoo took a fourth in the discus and Dick Steinbrinck a fifth in the high jump to add to the Palatine point total.

Tenth Boy Palatine has sent to state

Stephan is the 10th Palatine boy to compete in the state meet. Palatine's best representatives in the past at the state have been Ed Hahnfeldt, who was district winner in discus and javelin three straight years and winner of four state meet medals including a first in 1945; Anton Cipri who won the district 440 two years and finished third in the state 440; and Dick Stinson who won the district pole vault in 1943 and suffered a dislocation in the state on the vault which qualified him for the Saturday finals. Stephan is a strong competitor and will ably represent the Northwest Conference.

Northeast meet Wednesday—Northwest on Thursday

As the paper goes to press next week Northeast and Northwest conference meets will be about to be run. It will be the last Northeast next Wednesday and Arlington will be trying hard to take the championship. The Cards have a well balanced team as evidenced by their showing at the district where they outscored such teams as Waukegan, Highland Park, and Maine in winning third place. Niles will likely be the chief opposition though points will be split up a good deal with Leyden doing quite a lot of scoring and Libertyville and Crystal Lake much improved over a year ago.

Palatine as host to the Northwest meet next Thursday night is a heavy favorite but points are likely to be divided a

3 Niles pitchers hold Streaks 10-7

Three Niles pitchers paraded to the hump at Woodstock Friday afternoon, collectively allowing five hits, walking 11 and striking out 11, to give Niles a 10-7 victory over the Blue Streaks. Eddy went all the way for the Streaks, giving up six walks and fanning an equal number of batters.

Woodstock gathered three runs in the first inning and two more in the second, to lead 5-0 at the end of two frames. Niles retaliated with a potent third, scoring six markers, then adding one each in the next two innings. Each team counted two more runs across the plate in the final round. Carlson of Niles belted two homers and a triple, while Helm of Woodstock also knocked out a triple.

Theis to state for Bisons

Franklin Theis was the only Bensenville track man to earn a trip to the state finals at Champaign last week end when he tied for second spot in the high jump event of the Batavia district track and field meet.

Their, along with four other boys, jumped 5'4" but no higher in the cold night air along the Fox river. He thus garnered two points for his school's total effort of the evening.

PITTMAN, pitching the discus hopefully, missed qualifying by fouling his last and best shot, a toss well over 130 feet. Hinsrale won the meet with 47 tallies, with Glenbard second.

Only record set was made by John Woods of Hinsdale, who topped the 120 yard high hurdles in :15.1.

Berschet 1st in shot and discus in district meet

by MARVIN PRELLBERG

Evanston township won its own district track meet last Saturday by dethroning last year's champs, New Trier, with a total of 49 2/5 points, and thus qualifying its winning men for the state finals at Champaign this week end.

Table of points

Evanston	40 2/5	Palatine	7
N. Trier	42 1/2	H'land Pk.	5 1/5
Arl'ton	31 1/5	Lake Forest	4
Niles	20 1/2	Libertyville	3
W'kegan	16 1/2	Grant	0
Maine	15 7/10

Lou Hilliard of second place New Trier was the speed star of the day by winning both the dashes and running on the championship 880 Relay team, which has a very good chance of winning the state in this event. He won the 100 yard dash ahead of Niles' Permer in :10.2, and also beat Permer in the 220 in :22.6.

MARV BERSCHET of Arlington, which placed third, was the weight star of the meet with two firsts. In the shot-put he got his best heave of the year, a 51' 5" toss which dealt Evanston's Rodez his first loss of the year in this event, and in the discus Berschet won with a mediocre toss of 135' 6". Berschet is the only competitor in the state finals from Arlington since Ken Gronert lost a chance for qualifying in the 880 yard run by just one-tenth of a second with a 2:05.1 half-mile.

Jim Heiniger of Niles also goes down state in two events with a first in the high hurdles and a tie for first in the pole vault. Stephan is to represent Palatine in the state meet after winning second in the low hurdles event.

Evanston captured four first places as Knight won the broad jump, Mitchell the 440, Griffin the 880, and Fulton the low hurdles. Waukegan grabbed the other two first with Krapf running a beautiful 4:40.3 mile, and Harrell tieing for first with three other boys in the high jump.

Highland Park repeats golf district winner

by MARVIN PRELLBERG

A hot-shooting Highland Park Golf team came through in the toughest district in the state and won the Arlington district high school golf meet last Saturday afternoon with a four-man total of 309, a marvelous average of 77¼ strokes per man, which qualifies the Highland Park duffers for a trip to the state finals this week.

This was the second straight year that Highland Park has qualified for the state meet, winning last year on their home course. The boys who made up the winning squad were Dominic Ori, a senior, who was medalist with a 75, Dan Coleman, a junior, with a 77, his brother, Don Coleman, a sophomore who likewise posted a 77, and Joe Dinelli, another junior, who carded an 80. Welton Mansfield will go down as the alternate by notching an 86.

FOR THE FIRST time in three years, Old Man Weather was good to the high school duffers. There was no rain, an old district custom, and although it did get a little chilly in the mid-afternoon, it was really good golf weather. Fourteen schools teed off on the Mt. Prospect links, twelve being full teams and two teams just entering individuals, namely Palatine and Lake Forest.

Waukegan township won second with a team total of 314, five strokes behind Highland Park and eight ahead of third place New Trier. New Trier was led by Joe Dempsey, who won second low medalist honors with a six over par 76. Bill Pucin, who won third place individual in a playoff with the two Colemans, was low for the Waukeganers with a 77.

Arlington, the host school, was rated near the top, but had a very "cold" day and could grab no better than sixth place. Ralph Becker was low man for the Cards with a 79, Tom Stockdale was nest with an 80, Vern Rascher, who was not at all on his game, shot an 81, and Chuck Dresser and Marv Prellberg were tied for fourth with 87s.

Out for NU spring football practice

Al Stroker and Bob Nelson of Arlington Heights, are candidates for the Northwestern University football team in spring practice this year.

Both were members of last fall's freshman team. Stroker, a 235 pound tackle, developed into one of the best linemen on the squad. Nelson was a fullback but has been shifted to right half in spring workouts.

Spring drills at Northwestern started April 7 and will close with an intra-squad game May 15.

SWIMMING

The plumber who arrived late on his job inquired, "Well, how is it?" The happy husband replied, "Oh, not so bad, while we were waiting for you, I taught my wife how to swim!"

Cards are strong favorites under lights Wednesday

by G. A. McELROY

The last Northeast Conference track meet will be held at Arlington Heights next Wednesday, May 19. The conference breaks up after this event, the last on the league sports program for the year. Arlington, the host school, is favored to win the meet but there will be some very good competition and good marks made before the meet is over.

The meet starts at 4:30 p. m. with preliminaries in the shot, discus, pole vault, broad jump, high jump, high hurdles, low hurdles, 100 yard dash, and 220 yard dash. The finals are scheduled for 8:00 p. m. under the lights.

ARLINGTON'S balanced team which has defeated all members of the conference and was winner of the Palatine Relays, plus a strong third in the state district meet, should come out on top. Berschet looks like a double winner in shot and discus, both of which he took at the district. Schaeffer in the dashes, Schimmel and Heimsoth in the hurdles, Gronert in the 880, Goebert in the mile, Robinson in the pole vault and high jump, Busse in sprints and broad jump, Shanley in the discus, Krause in hurdles, Dvoracek in the mile, LaPlant in the high jump, and Schwartz in the shot look like

Meet details

Date—Wednesday, May 19.

Time—Finals at 8 p. m. under the lights.

Place—Arlington Heights high school athletic field.

Tickets—Can be secured at the gate.

Admission—50c for adults, 35c for properly identified students.

place winners for the Cardinals. Arlington has so many good men that they will have plenty of good extras to use in the relays.

RUNNERUP will probably be Niles. Jim Heiniger who has averaged from 15 to 22 points a dual meet can be counted on for two and possibly three first places in pole vault and hurdles. Schrimpf is a fine middle distance runner. Permer took seconds in both dashes at the district. Siegel is a good dash man and broad jumper, Niles has some very fine performers but not enough talent or balance to win the meet.

The same is true of Leyden who has a first place winner in the dashes in Byron Clark who might also annex the broad-jump. Zelinko and Guill are good middle distance and distance runners and Rocque does well in pole vault and high jump. Libertyville has a good team headed by Jazwiec, a speedy junior and Jones, a good distance runner.

Crystal Lake's team headed by Fanter and Kolls is reported to be improved over a year ago. Lake Forest is experiencing an off year. Anderson and Paune have been looking best for the Scouts.

TWO BOYS may set new Northeast records next Wednesday. Marv Berschet has put the shot 51 feet and thrown the discus 150 feet both of which are in excess of league records. Byron Clark, the Leyden sprinter, may lower his own :10.2 century mark and the :22.6 held by Freeman of Lake Forest.

Most of the Northeast marks are so good that it would take a man capable of placing in the state to beat any of them. Only Berschet and Clark are state placing caliber and both are expected to come home with medals from Champaign.

Redwings still hope for good opening day

The Arlington Redwings hope to get the baseball season underway next Sunday afternoon. Two previous opening day plans have been washed away by rain. This third attempt will bring the Neva Billiard Co. team, one of the outstanding teams of Mid-West Semi Pro league to Recreation Park as the Redwing opposition.

During the past week Manager Ed Wahl announced the addition of Gale Back of Mt. Prospect and Schwick, a local school teacher, to the squad. Bach recently returned from a Chicago Cub minor league trial, while Schwick played for Concordia Teachers college.

These additions will give the Redwings an improved club and the only hitch in any plans to play a ball game will be the fault of the weather man.

Mt. Prospect softball team seeks games

Mt. Prospect's 12-inch team would like to schedule games with any team that has open dates. Sunday afternoons are open. Teams interested are urged to call Wally Ewert at Mount Prospect 830-R for further information.

Beat Antioch

Thollander throws no hitter at Ela nine, 4-0

Bensenville's Bisons kept pace with Northbrook last week when they won two more games, including a no-hit, no-run masterpiece performed by Bob Thollander over Ela. Other victory for the locals was over Antioch, 15-3.

Thollander pitched to just 21 men in accomplishing his vote for the high school hall of fame, with not one man getting a base on balls. Fifteen strikeouts wer eincluded for the senior pitcher on Coach Tom Meneguin's co-champions. Salem and Schwartz pitched for the Bears, striking out twelve of the Bisons. The locals pushed four counters across the opening inning, but did nothing more.

INCLUDED in that first frame were doubles by Keller and Mueller, bunched with singles by Thollander and Steffenson.

Wednesday of last week, just two days before the Ela fracas, the Bisons exploded a 15-3 win over Antioch, Steffenson doing the pitching.

Stevie fanned 16 and allowed five safeties. Scott, tossing for the Sequoits, struck out seven and walked five ot keep the Bisons in control the first four innings.

Bensenville notched three runs the second inning, added three more the fifth, then pushed five and four across the final two frames.

CONFERENCE ATHLETES SET SIGHTS ON LEAGUE MEETS

NW squads to run next week at Palatine

by G. A. McELROY

Palatine's well balanced track team is favored to win the Northwest conference meet to be held on Ost Field in Palatine next Thursday night, May 20. The Pirates appear good enough to place in every event on the program and get two men in the points in at least half of the individual events. Chief competition for Palatine may come from Grant, winner of the class "B" division of the Palatine Relays. Then again it may be Antioch whose two stars, Mattson and Kraft, have been out due to ineligibility but are expected back. Barrington has been coming up and may be a real factor in the meet. Bensenville has too few boys to cut much of a figure.

Coach Welty has several boys who will be out to win firsts. Spoo in the shot and discus, Stephan in the dashes and broad jump, Steinbrinck in the high jump and hurdles, Orzolek in the high hurdles, and Newport in the 440 and 880 and Hestrup in the pole vault, will carry the main responsibility of winning points for Palatine.

GRANT WILL depend upon Fred Becker to win the 100, 220 and broad jump and Sheplar, Carlson, Kirkpatrick and Koch to pick up additional points. On paper Grant does not have enough balance to win the meet. Antioch has Mattson, a very good hurdler and broad jump; Kraft, a good pole vaulter; January and Buchta, good distance runners; and Kuligowski in the weights.

Barrington is doped to win second place in the conference on the strength of Baumann in the dashes; Kranz, an all round performer good for three places; VanSteendren in the weights; Larson in the 880 and mile; and Frey, Brandt, and other events. Barrington may not win any first places but should place a lot of men farther down. Bensenville has a fine weight man in Pittman who will probably win the shot and place near the top in the discus. Kurz will do well in the 440 and Thies who qualified for the state meet in the high jump may surprise in that event as he did in the district meet.

THE MEET will be a twilight affair starting at 6:00 p. m. Awards will be made for five places in the individual events and three places in the relays. The only relays are a freshman 440, a varsity 880, and a mile medley. Bob Pratt of Barrington will be the meet starter. Student tickets are being sold in all the schools at 30c. All tickets the night of the meet will be 60c.

Hasemans open play Thursday

Haseman Truckers, Palatine's entry in the Arlington Heights softball league opens play this Thursday night, May 13, when they meet Pape and Guenther squad at 7 p. m. at Recreation Park in Arlington Heights.

It is now definitely known that Emmett Doyle, Haseman's star pitcher of last year, will be on hand to twirl for the locals. After cutting off two fingers of his left hand at the first joint, it was feared Doyle might not be able to compete this season.

However, Doyle is a right hander and his physician has given the o. k. for him to pitch.

NEXT GAME for the Haseman aggregation is slated for May 23 at Arlington when the locals meet Rivera at 7 p. m. There are six teams in the league this year, with every squad meeting twice in each round.

Haseman won the second round last year, only to lose in the playoff to Rose-Lo, winner of the first segment.

Eddies Liquors Downs Hartman's shoe store in golf league

Eddies Liquors cold weather golfers swept 8 points from Hartman's Shoe to move into a tie for 1st place with the Bowling Lanes team in the Arlington Heights golf league.

E. Simmons shot a sterling 31 to take the low gross honors, while G. Kusch's 32 took low net.

The team standings after the second night of play are as follows:

MACS SAYS

BY GERALD McELROY

The Northeast conference made an excellent showing in state district track this past week-end. In fact year by year the league has been getting tougher in track and sending more and more men to the state meet. The best track schools are the three outcasts who will be without a league after this month. We refer to Arlington Heights who scored 31 1-5 points to take third in the Evanston district, Niles with 20½ points who finished fourth in the same meet, and Leyden who scored 17½ points at the Riverside district.

Berschet, Clark, Heiniger, Permer Star in districts

Each of the three schools had a double winner in the district who will compete in two events at Champaign Friday and Saturday. Marvin Berschet of Arlington, was the star of the Evanston meet with first in shot and discus. His 51 feet 5 inches in the shot was a remarkable record. Berschet will be a strong threat at the state in both events. Byron Clark of Leyden, won both the 100 and 220 at Riverside. Clark ran the 100 in :10.2 and the 220 in :22.5. Clark placed in the state meet last year.

Jim Heiniger of Niles won the Evanston meet high hurdles in :15.5 and tied for first in the pole vault. His team mate Permer took seconds in both dashes and will compete in both at the state meet. Payne of Lake Forest got a second in the discus to earn a trip to Champaign. Leyden's Robert Zelenka was second in the 880 at Riverside in a very fast race won in 1:59.9. Don Roque of Leyden tied for second in the pole vault giving Leyden three state competitors.

Cards had six third places in district meet

Arlington had a number of boys who placed just out of the select group of firsts and seconds who get another chance at Champaign. Arlington boys who just missed the state meet trip were Schimmel who got third in the high hurdles; Gronert, third in the 880; Robinson, third in the pole vault; Schaeffer, third in the 100 yard dash; Shanley, third in the discus; and the relay team which finished third. This was the best district showing ever made by Arlington and makes the Cardinals even greater favorites to win the last Northeast meet to which they will be host next week Wednesday night.

Palatine's Stephan Goes to State in low hurdles

When a Northwest conference school sends a boy to the state meet it is a real accomplishment. This year only one Northwest school scored in district competition. Palatine scored at Evanston with three men and qualified Harold Stephan for the state meet with a second place in the 200 yard low hurdles. Stephan is the first Palatine boy ever to go to the state meet in one of the shorter running events.

Stephan hurdled very little before this year but ran the low barriers in a fast :23.7 at Evanston Saturday. Hank Spoo took a fourth in the discus and Dick Steinbrinck a fifth in the high jump to add to the Palatine point total.

Tenth Boy Palatine has sent to state

Stephan is the 10th Palatine boy to compete in the state meet. Palatine's best representatives in the past at the state have been Ed Hahnfeldt, who was district winner in discus and javelin three straight years and winner of four state meet medals including a first in 1945; Anton Cipri who won the district 440 two years and finished third in the state 440; and Dick Stinson who won the district pole vault in 1943 and suffered a dislocation in the state on the vault which qualified him for the Saturday finals. Stephan is a strong competitor and will ably represent the Northwest Conference.

Northeast meet Wednesday—Northwest on Thursday

As the paper goes to press next week Northeast and Northwest conference meets will be about to be run. It will be the last Northeast next Wednesday and Arlington will be trying hard to take the championship. The Cards have a well balanced team as evidenced by their showing at the district where they outscored such teams as Waukegan, Highland Park, and Maine in winning third place. Niles will likely be the chief opposition though points will be split up a good deal with Leyden doing quite a lot of scoring and Libertyville and Crystal Lake much improved over a year ago.

Palatine as host to the Northwest meet next Thursday night is a heavy favorite but points are likely to be divided a

3 Niles pitchers hold Streaks 10-7

Three Niles pitchers paraded to the hump at Woodstock Friday afternoon, collectively allowing five hits, walking 11 and striking out 11, to give Niles a 10-7 victory over the Blue Streaks. Eddy went all the way for the Streaks, giving up six walks and fanning an equal number of batters.

Woodstock gathered three runs in the first inning and two more in the second, to lead 5-0 at the end of two frames. Niles retaliated with a potent third, scoring six markers, then adding one each in the next two innings. Each team counted two more runs across the plate in the final round. Carlson of Niles belted two homers and a triple, while Helm of Woodstock also knocked out a triple.

Theis to state for Bisons

Franklin Theis was the only Bensenville track man to earn a trip to the state finals at Champaign last week end when he tied for second spot in the high jump event of the Batavia district track and field meet.

Their, along with four other boys, jumped 5'4" but no higher in the cold night air along the Fox river. He thus garnered two points for his school's total effort of the evening.

PITTMAN, pitching the discus hopefully, missed qualifying by fouling his last and best shot, a toss well over 130 feet. Hinsrale won the meet with 47' tallies, with Glenbard second.

Only record set was made by John Woods of Hinsdale, who topped the 120 yard high hurdles in :15.1.

Berschet 1st in shot and discus in district meet

by MARVIN PRELLBERG

Evanston township won its own district track meet last Saturday by dethroning last year's champs, New Trier, with a total of 49 2/5 points, and thus qualifying its winning men for the state finals at Champaign this week end.

Table of points

Evanston	40 2/5	Palatine	7
N. Trier	42 1/2	H'land Pk. 5	1/5
Arl'ton	31 1/5	Lake Forest	4
Niles	20 1/2	Libertyville	3
W'kegan	16 1/2	Grant	0
Maine	15 7/10

Lou Hilliard of second place New Trier was the speed star of the day by winning both the dashes and running on the championship 880 Relay team, which has a very good chance of winning the state in this event. He won the 100 yard dash ahead of Niles' Permer in :10.2, and also beat Permer in the 220 in :22.6.

MARV BERSCHET of Arlington, which placed third, was the weight star of the meet with two firsts. In the shot-put he got his best heave of the year, a 51' 5" toss which dealt Evanston's Rodez his first loss of the year in this event, and in the discus Berschet won with a mediocre toss of 135' 6". Berschet is the only competitor in the state finals from Arlington since Ken Gronert lost a chance for qualifying in the 880 yard run by just one-tenth of a second with a 2:05.1 half-mile.

Jim Heiniger of Niles also goes down state in two events with a first in the high hurdles and a tie for first in the pole vault. Stephan is to represent Palatine in the state meet after winning second in the low hurdles event.

Evanston captured four first places as Knight won the broad jump, Mitchell the 440, Griffin the 880, and Fulton the low hurdles. Waukegan grabbed the other two first with Krapf running a beautiful 4:40.3 mile, and Harrell tieing for first with three other boys in the high jump.

Highland Park repeats golf district winner

by MARVIN PRELLBERG

A hot-shooting Highland Park Golf team came through in the toughest district in the state and won the Arlington district high school golf meet last Saturday afternoon with a four-man total of 309, a marvelous average of 77¼ strokes per man, which qualifies the Highland Park duffers for a trip to the state finals this week.

This was the second straight year that Highland Park has qualified for the state meet, winning last year on their home course. The boys who made up the winning squad were Dominic Ori, a senior, who was medalist with a 75, Dan Coleman, a junior, with a 77, his brother, Don Coleman, a sophomore who likewise posted a 77, and Joe Dinelli, another junior, who carded an 80. Welton Mansfield will go down as the alternate by notching an 86.

FOR THE FIRST time in three years, Old Man Weather was good to the high school duffers. There was no rain, an old district custom, and although it did get a little chilly in the mid-afternoon, it was really good golf weather. Fourteen schools teed off on the Mt. Prospect links, twelve being full teams and two teams just entering individuals, namely Palatine and Lake Forest.

Waukegan township won second with a team total of 314, five strokes behind Highland Park and eight ahead of third place New Trier. New Trier was led by Joe Dempsey, who won second low medalist honors with a six over par 76. Bill Pucin, who won third place individual in a playoff with the two Colemans, was low for the Waukeganers with a 77.

Arlington, the host school, was rated near the top, but had a very "cold" day and could grab no better than sixth place. Ralph Becker was low man for the Cards with a 79, Tom Stockdale was nest with an 80, Vern Rascher, who was not at all on his game, shot an 81, and Chuck Dresser and Marv Prellberg were tied for fourth with 87s.

Out for NU spring football practice

Al Stroker and Bob Nelson of Arlington Heights, are candidates for the Northwestern University football team in spring practice this year.

Both were members of last fall's freshman team. Stroker, a 235 pound tackle, developed into one of the best linemen on the squad. Nelson was a fullback but has been shifted to right half in spring workouts.

Spring drills at Northwestern started April 7 and will close with an intra-squad game May 15.

Redwings still hope for good opening day

The Arlington Redwings hope to get the baseball season underway next Sunday afternoon. Two previous opening day plans have been washed away by rain. This third attempt will bring the Neva Billiard Co. team, one of the outstanding teams of Mid-West Semi Pro league to Recreation Park as the Redwing opposition.

During the past week Manager Ed Wahl announced the addition of Gale Back of Mt. Prospect and Schwick, a local school teacher, to the squad. Bach recently returned from a Chicago Cub minor league trial, while Schwick played for Concordia Teachers college.

These additions will give the Redwings an improved club and the only hitch in any plans to play a ball game will be the fault of the weather man.

Cards are strong favorites under lights Wednesday

by G. A. McELROY

The last Northeast Conference track meet will be held at Arlington Heights next Wednesday, May 19. The conference breaks up after this event, the last on the league sports program for the year. Arlington, the host school, is favored to win the meet but there will be some very good competition and good marks made before the meet is over.

The meet starts at 4:30 p. m. with preliminaries in the shot, discus, pole vault, broad jump, high jump, high hurdles, low hurdles, 100 yard dash, and 220 yard dash. The finals are scheduled for 8:00 p. m. under the lights.

ARLINGTON'S balanced team which has defeated all members of the conference and was winner of the Palatine Relays, plus a strong third in the state district meet, should come out on top. Berschet looks like a double winner in shot and discus, both of which he took at the district. Schaeffer in the dashes, Schimmel and Heimsoth in the hurdles, Gronert in the 880, Goebert in the mile, Robinson in the pole vault and high jump, Busse in sprints and broad jump, Shanley in the discus, Krause in hurdles, Dvoracek in the mile, LaPlant in the high jump, and Schwartz in the shot look like place winners for the Cardinals. Arlington has so many good men that they will have plenty of good extras to use in the relays.

RUNNERUP will probably be Niles. Jim Heiniger who has averaged from 15 to 22 points a dual meet can be counted on for two and possibly three first places in pole vault and hurdles. Schrimpf is a fine middle distance runner. Permer took seconds in both dashes at the district. Siegel is a good dash man and broad jumper, Niles has some very fine performers but not enough talent or balance to win the meet.

The same is true of Leyden who has a first place winner in the dashes in Byron Clark who might also annex the broad-jump. Zelinko and Guill are good middle distance and distance runners and Rocque does well in pole vault and high jump. Libertyville has a good team headed by Jazwiec, a speedy junior and Jones, a good distance runner.

Crystal Lake's team headed by Fanter and Kolls is reported to be improved over a year ago. Lake Forest is experiencing an off year. Anderson and Paune have been looking best for the Scouts.

TWO BOYS may set new Northeast records next Wednesday. Marv Berschet has put the shot 51 feet and thrown the discus 150 feet both of which are in excess of league records. Byron Clark, the Leyden sprinter, may lower his own :10.2 century mark and the :22.6 held by Freeman of Lake Forest.

Most of the Northeast marks are so good that it would take a man capable of placing in the state to beat any of them. Only Berschet and Clark are state placing caliber and both are expected to come home with medals from Champaign.

Thollander throws no hitter at Ela nine, 4-0

Bensenville's Bisons kept pace with Northbrook last week when they won two more games, including a no-hit, no-run masterpiece performed by Bob Thollander over Ela. Other victory for the locals was over Antioch, 15-3.

Wednesday of last week, just two days before the Ela fracas, the Bisons exploded a 15-3 win over Antioch, Steffenson doing the pitching.

good deal as several schools have some outstanding boys.

Grant and Becker a question in N. W. meet

The question mark in the Northwest meet is Grant. The Fox Lake boys looked great at the Palatine Relays, especially a boy named Becker. Before and since that week Becker and Grant have been rather mediocre. Becker failed to place at the district and has not approached the marks made at the Palatine Relays in the 100 and the broad jump. Perhaps Becker will come back next week. Perhaps not. Upon this fact hinges the outcome of the meet.

As we see it Grant could push Palatine if at their best, but the Pirates would still win by 10 or more points. If Grant is not up to par the meet may be a walk away. Injuries, ineligibility, condition and other causes can easily change the dope and it should be an interesting meet with better marks than usual.

Radioactive Material

Radioactive material often is mentioned in this atomic age. Radioactive materials are unstable atoms which shoot out radiation and particles until the nucleus falls into a normal, or stable, form. Radium and a few other elements are naturally unstable. Many common elements can be made radioactive by cyclotrons or an atomic "pile," which is an atomic furnace. The pile consists of uranium distributed in a lot of pure carbon or other materials. It burns fissionable material and releases atomic energy.

Women's Western open at Skycrest club to benefit cancer fund

The week June 21 to 26, Skycrest country club is to be host to the Women's Western golf association open championship. Invitations to this meet are just being released to all clubs in the United States west of the New England states.

Last Friday evening a meeting of all committee chairmen, numbering about 15 and the officers of the Women's Western Board, met at Skycrest to co-ordinate the different types of preparations that are being made.

Many of the wold's top women golfers, amateurs and professionals have signified their intention to compete, according to Jerry Glynn, club professional. Some of the Curtiss cup team will return from abroad in time to enter. The prizes are numerous and very inviting.

Mrs. Phillip G. Jenz of Beverly country club, is president of the WWGA. Mrs. Edwin D. Baskin of Mt. Prospect, a member of Skycrest, has been appointed general chairman of the tournament. Mrs. Donald D. Warner of Evanston is co-chairman. Other local people who will have some of the important arrangements are Mrs. Shirley E. Brewer of Prairie View, reservations and accommodations; Mrs. Robert M. Hyde of Evanston, registrations.

Mrs. Arthur Goelitz of Deerfield will be in charge of club and locker room facilities. Gene Dyer, president of Skycrest has designated the proceeds of the tournament to the Damon Runyon cancer fund.

Grant and Becker a question in N. W. meet

The question mark in the Northwest meet is Grant. The Fox Lake boys looked great at the Palatine Relays, especially a boy named Becker. Before and since that week Becker and Grant have been rather mediocre. Becker failed to place at the district and has not approached the marks made at the Palatine Relays in the 100 and the broad jump. Perhaps Becker will come back next week. Perhaps not. Upon this fact hinges the outcome of the meet.

As we see it Grant could push Palatine if at their best, but the Pirates would still win by 10 or more points. If Grant is not up to par the meet may be a walk away. Injuries, ineligibility, condition and other causes can easily change the dope and it should be an interesting meet with better marks than usual.

Radioactive Material

Radioactive material often is mentioned in this atomic age. Radioactive materials are unstable atoms which shoot out radiation and particles until the nucleus falls into a normal, or stable, form. Radium and a few other elements are naturally unstable. Many common elements can be made radioactive by cyclotrons or an atomic "pile," which is an atomic furnace. The pile consists of uranium distributed in a lot of pure carbon or other materials. It burns fissionable material and releases atomic energy.

Parking meters cause state to cancel out maintenance funds

Last week the city of Des Plaines was informed by the State of Illinois that they would not receive maintenance funds from the state because they had installed parking meters on Miner street and on Mannheim road.

These two state highways have been maintained by the city and the state has paid the city a portion of the expense.

A resolution was requested by the state on the matter. No figures as to the amount the state has given the city in the past but it is believed to have been about $1800.

A LASTING MEMORIAL

The largest public memorial in the world is America's Statue of Liberty. Erected of 25 tons of copper, the "Goddess" stands ageless against the elements, an inspiration to all.

Many fine caskets are made of beautiful and enduring copper. One might expect such lasting protection to be prohibitive in cost, yet we can offer quality copper merchandise at moderate prices.

Stadium musical, comedy program to aid hospital

A star-studded program, headed by Red Skelton, Pat O'Brien, Sammy Kaye, Horace Heidt and his famed radio ensemble will be staged in the Chicago Stadium Saturday night, May 22, with proceeds going to the research department of the new Mercy hospital which will be constructed upon the close of the current civic, fund-raising drive.

The public may attend this giant theatrical presentation by making a donation—large or small—to the Mercy Spring Festival, at 105 West Adams st., whereupon invitations will be issued to donors. There are no tickets on sale. Contributors to the cause have only to state how many invitations they wish, but are asked to keep their requests modest so that there will be enough seating space for all who wish to attend. Every seat is a reserved seat.

In the center of the huge stadium on a flower-decked stage will appear the luminaries of screen, radio and the theatre. Heidt, who will be headliner at the Oriental Theatre will be on hand with his noted entertainers of the Philip Morris show on NBC. These will include Nick Cantino, wizard of the accordion; Jack Parr, vocalist and the inimitable Richard Melari who does impersonations of Perry Como, Vaughn Munroe and other singing stars.

Sammy Kaye will bring his entire show from the State-Lake theatre and will call upon members of the audience to lead the orchestra in his famed "So you Want to Lead a Band" routine. From the Chez Paree will come Willie Shore with an entirely new routine of comedy and dances; from the Mayfair Room of the Blackstone, Carl Brisson, the suave continentalist; while a whole array of other talent will round out the show. The National Anthem will be rendered by the cap-and-gowned glee club of Mercy High school.

KING DANDELION UNTHRONED

Longtime ruler of American lawns, the pesky Dandelion, has met his match in a new chemical developed by science as a part of war research. The striking results illustrated here were accomplished by scattering over the lawn the very latest adaptation of this new chemical whereby is combined lawn food plus weed control. This new dry-applied compound has the startling ability to destroy weeds while nourishing the grass to thicker, greener growth. It is estimated by O M Scott & Sons Co of Marysville, Ohio, developers of this new weeds down, grass up combination, that it should save dandelion digging lawn owners some 9,000,00f backaches and twice that many callouses.

Green as keynoter heightens interest in 'The Midwestrner'

Selection of Governor Dwight H. Green as the temporary chairman and keynoter at the Republican National Convention at Philadelphia, on June 21, has heightened interest in "The Midwesterner," the breezy biography of Governor Green written by Robert J. Casey and W. A. S. Douglas and published by Wilcox and Follett of Chicago.

The two veteran Chicago newspapermen and war correspondents followed the Governor thru his boyhood, his days as quarterback at Wabash College, his experiences as a student flyer and a flying instructor in the army, and his novitiate as a newspaper reporter in Chicago. They also tell the intimate details of the Capone and Insull trials and picture the moves at Springfield by which the Governor obtained for Chicago his housing program, the adoption of the Chicago Metropolitan Transit Authority law, and finally, the Congressional reapportionment of the state. "The Midwesterner" is both a valuable chronicle of recent history in Chicago and Illinois and very entertaining reading because it is written in the easy style familiar to the readers of Casey's "Some Interesting People" and other books.

Arlington builders offer 4½ room homes, FHA approved at $9250

Those who own their own lots can have a conventional home erected thereon for $9,250. That is the good news that the advertising columns of this paper carry to home seekers this week. The homes have full basement 4½ rooms on first floor and two rooms, not partitioned, on the second floor.

In explaining the set up, Mr. Heneley, who has been introducing the Arlington PreFabs in this locality, has now formed connections with a large material organization and is able to contract for homes built in standard sizes with the interiors to the order of the purchaser for the above amount.

"These buildings are not prefabs," says Heneley. "They are conventional built homes and are so classified by the Federal Housing Administration. They are approved by the FHA and by the Veterans Administration and naturally can be financed through any loaning agency. They will also meet all local building ordinances and include full basement."

Arlington Builders will act as general contractor and take over the responsibility to erect the home on the lot owned by the purchaser, within the corporate limits or in the rural area. In case of the latter the cost of well and sewage disposal would be extra.

The interior workmanship such as the plumbing, heating and electrical work will be done by local contractors.

Preventing Shrinkage

Good precaution against shrinkage is to dampen and press woven cotton goods before making a dress. To do this, spread the goods on an ironing board and sponge a small section at a time. This is better than washing, which would remove the finish and make the cloth hard to work with.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George B. Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

The increase in the amount in each pay envelope after May 1st is dramatic and welcome proof that a reduction in taxes means an increase in take home pay.

As a result of recent action by Congress changing the federal income tax rates, not only was the amount in each pay envelope greater beginning with the first of May but also the taxpayers will be entitled to refunds when they make out their income tax statements after the end of 1948.

Howeyer, it is obvious that no federal, state or local government can reduce its income by reducing tax rates, and at the same time continue to increase its spending. Yet that is just what your federal government is trying to do.

The federal budget for the fiscal year from July 1, 1948 to June 30, 1949 is the highest peace-time budget that has ever been submitted for Congressional consideration.

It is estimated that the appropriation for expansion in our national program for the Army, Navy and Air Force, will be $3½ billion greater than the amount provided in this highest peacetime budget.

Paul Hoffman, newly appointed administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration created to handle the European recovery program and aid to China, is quoted as having told the Deficiency Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee: "My great fear is that, even with the most careful planning and the most vigorous supervision of expenditures, this amount ($5,300,000,000 for twelve months for Europe) may prove insufficient to accomplish the degree of recovery we seek."

Congress appeared fully aware of the dangers when it overwhelmingly adopted on February 27 the resolution submitted to the Joint Committee on the Legislative Budget. In its report, this Joint Committee made the following statements:

"This nation is admittedly in grave danger of run-away inflation . . . Since Federal, State and local expenditures constitute the single greatest inflationary force in our economy, these expenditures should be curtailed wherever possible.

"For the same reason, large-scale expansion and acceleration of public works projects should be limited to such projects as are deemed urgently necessary to the public interest.

"World conditions make imperative heavy expenditures for foreign aid and national defense. Under such circumstances, discretion cautions us to conserve our financial resources."

Unfortunately, since February 27, 1948, the actions of Congress and Congressional Committees have not been consistent with the pledge.

Despite the fact that 1949 appropriations as passed by the House for river, harbor and flood control work are almost twice as large as the amounts allowed in the pre-war peak year of 1940, and include construction funds for 40 new construction projects, the Senate Appropriations Committee has recommended to the Senate an increase in this appropriation of $101,377,900.

Senators Styles Bridges, Clyde Reed and Homer Ferguson, in a minority report on this proposed increase, stated: "If we must violate our pledge for curtailed governmental spending, certainly it should be for the purpose of strengthening our national defenses against the threat of the totalitarian powers. Above all, it should not be used to chew up the very materials which, should they be needed, are so vital to our national security . . this bill proposes that we fritter away money on programs that are set up without the slightest regard for the real importance or the time element involved in a single one of the scores of projects included in this bill."

This inflationary bill is only the worst of many appropriation bills now before Congress calling for the expenditure of billions of dollars for further non-essential expansion of the federal government. The federal government will continue to expand its non-essential activities unless the citizens let their Senators and Representatives in Washington know that they want Congress to stop spending the country into bankruptcy.

RAMBLE INN

Well, that was some dance they had up at Crystal Lake high school. And it was a big success for Arlington. Jean Busse one of Arlingtons nominees for the title of Queen of the Tri-High dance successfully competed with two other girls from Palatine and Crystal Lake to win. She was presented to the dancers in a nice ceremony during which she rode onto the dance floor in a tiny four-cylinder austin car.

The decorations for the dance were exceptionally nice and the whole affair, sponsored by the Student Council of C. L., went over very smoothly.

Congratulations! We only hope we can present as fine a dance as this years when the Tri-High is again held at Arlington.

Last night Wednesday, May 12, the Paint and Wig gave its Dramatic Festival. Two plays were presented. She Stoops to Conquer by Goldsmith and Now Is The Time provided the bulk of the evenings entertainment. The Cyclorama, which was recently bought by the Dramatic Club and last years graduating class, was also dedicated. All concerned in the two plays did a creditable job. Special credit should also go to Mrs. Harold Anderson who did a supurb job in directing and producing the program.

Every girl longs to be there. Every boy wants to go. If you have any romance in your soul. If you have any sense of the exquisite, the aesthetic, the glamorous then you'll make a date with that certain silky somebody you want to be with. Whether her eyes are blue as skies or green and turbulent as the ocean you will notice a sparkle, a warmth never before seen in them. You will find her a little more sweet, a little more exotic, a little more excitingly unpredictable. Ah, what a night, with a full moon and not a chance of rain, with a crystal quality to the sky and an almost tangible silence. How can you resist this scene? Are you so immune to beauty, so dead to life, vigor, gaiety that you will let the Junior Prom pass by? If so then turn over in your grave and n'er speak again.

But if you want to go, then get your date and at 9:00 p.m. saunter in and enjoy yourself. It lasts till 12:30 a.m. See you there!

Y. C.

Some men heap together
The mistakes of all their lives
The groan about their hardships and often lethargize
And out of all their trouble
they evolve so all may see
A specter
And they name it destiny.

Heights students in Hidalgo club for Spanish language

by JOAN FLORENCE

Piano de cola; culebras de cascabeles; quien le dio' vela en este en tierro? Palomitas de maiz, Que idioma!

Do any of these remarks sound familiar? They may seem like Greek, but they're from a very interesting and fascinating language—Spanish.

Piano de cola, literally translated, means a piano with a tail. It's Spanish for grand piano.

Culebras de cascabeles (snakes with bells) means rattlesnakes.

Would you believe that "quien le dio' vela en este en tierro?" (Who gave you a candle to carry in this funeral?) means "What business is it of yours" or that "palomitas de maiz" (little doves of corn) means pop corn?

Students taking Spanish at Arlington High realize these expressions are more than a few foreign sounds. They symbolize a way of thinking different from ours. They demand of a foreigner, in this case the Spanish student, constant memorizing and study mingled with lots of fun.

Arlington High offers two years of Spanish under direction of Miss Margaret Firth, who received her Masters Degree at the University of Iowa. She has spent considerable time on the West Coast and in Mexico, besides doing much Spanish translation for business firms.

It has been with Miss Firth's guidance that students have become interested in language study and have gained a better understanding of Spanish speaking countries.

Two years of language are required to be accepted in most colleges. Students should have more incentive, however, for taking languages. In our fast moving world of today we become more and more in contact with other countries. This is especially true of South America and Mexico. Business transactions, Latin America as a vacation land, and numerous new fields of work in which Spanish is necessary are only a few of many opportunities open to students specializing in Spanish as a career or taking it for their own enjoyment.

In order to obtain a knowledge of any subject in our changing world it is necessary for teachers to attend meetings and conferences. Miss Firth recently attended a meeting of the Central Division of the Modern Language Teachers association.

Dr. Theodore Huebner, director of modern language in the New York public schools stressed that high school and college students should put more emphasis on language. He stated that instead of merely taking the usual two years, students should take four to six years of language.

Dr. John H. Furbay, director of air world education of the Trans World Air lines, spoke on "Language in this Shrinking World." He said that more than ever before people should understand world neighbors, and language is the means of doing this.

To understand what is accomplished in Spanish classes, I shall take you through a typical week in Spanish I.

First, several articles are read in Spanish and preparation for the week is centered around the new material. Each student reads the Spanish and translates it if necessary. In this way he becomes familiar with the pronunciation and also learns customs, industries, and geographies of Spain and Latin American countries.

The next day is spent on written and sometimes oral recitation of several little tests about the previous day's work. Occasionally a surprise test is given. Then the new words must be mastered.

A vocabulary consists of about twenty-five or thirty new words that are used in the story. New grammatical forms are also studied and reviewed on these days.

The last of the week is spent writing and presenting a conversation with a partner. The students write these themselves and they usually contain the words and ideas that were studied in that week's chapter.

Spanish II students follow a similar pattern of work, but learn more advanced material. Right now Spanish II students are climaxing the course by reading a mystery story written in Spanish. Every day they read a few chapters aloud or silently; only the most difficult passages are translated. If a student knows the details of the story, he probably understands Spanish. Recently the class made recordings of a Spanish speech they had written.

Some Spanish I and II students carry on correspondence with boys and girls in other Spanish speaking countries. They find it very interesting exchanging letters with foreign pen pals. Through this correspondence they become acquainted with the people and their habits.

The Hidalgos or noblemen, is the newly organized Spanish club. About 30 members meet during activity period on Monday to discuss and broaden their views on Spanish. Working cross word puzzles, singing Spanish songs, and playing Spanish games are part of the fun these students have enjoyed.

A big event presented by the Hidalgos was a recent Spanish Fiesta. Spanish club members and guests came dressed as senores and senioritas to dance and enjoy themselves. The Fiesta took place in the high school cafeteria which was decorated with flags of Latin American countries. A Spanish rumba and Spanish rhythms were presented for entertainment. The evening was complete with cake and ice cream.

Miss Firth hopes that Arlington High will be able to have a third year and even a fourth year of Spanish. This will enable students to gain proficiency. One year of language in high school is merely an appetizer; two years will give you a better understanding of Spanish, but two years' study of any language in school alone cannot make you speak it like a native.

Barrington woman 'pays up' after four bad checks

Last week police chief Becker brought into police magistrate court Alice Snyder, Barrington, on complaints of passing fraudulent checks to four local places of business—Brown's, Svoboda's, Lady Lynn and Gniot Service Station during the past four weeks. Each check was for $12 and attempts by the merchants to have them cleared at the bank were in vain.

Following court she paid a total of $48 plus a fine that totaled $113.00.

This same woman has passed bad checks in Arlington Heights. One of the victims will be glad to learn names of other business men who might have been victimized. Notify Chief Skoog.

Well, that was some dance they had up at Crystal Lake high school. And it was a big success for Arlington. Jean Busse one of Arlingtons nominees for the title of Queen of the Tri-High dance successfully competed with two other girls from Palatine and Crystal Lake to win. She was presented to the dancers in a nice ceremony during which she rode onto the dance floor in a tiny four-cylinder austin car.

The decorations for the dance were exceptionally nice and the whole affair, sponsored by the Student Council of C. L., went over very smoothly.

Congratulations! We only hope we can present as fine a dance as this years when the Tri-High is again held at Arlington.

Last night, Wednesday, May 12, the Paint and Wig gave its Dramatic Festival. Two plays were presented. She Stoops to Conquer by Goldsmith and Now Is The Time provided the bulk of the evenings entertainment. The Cyclorama, which was recently bought by the Dramatic Club and last years graduating class, was also dedicated. All concerned in the two plays did a creditable job. Special credit should also go to Mrs. Harold Anderson who did a supurb job in directing and producing the program.

Every girl longs to be there. Every boy wants to go. If you have any romance in your soul. If you have any sense of the exquisite, the aesthetic, the glamorous then you'll make a date with that certain silky somebody you want to be with. Whether her eyes are blue as skies or green and turbulent as the ocean you will notice a sparkle, a warmth never before seen in them. You will find her a little more sweet, a little more exotic, a little more excitingly unpredictable. Ah, what a night, with a full moon and not a chance of rain, with a crystal quality to the sky and an almost tangible silence. How can you resist this scene? Are you so immune to beauty, so dead to life, vigor, gaiety that you will let the Junior Prom pass by? If so then turn over in your grave and n'er speak again.

But if you want to go, then get your date and at 9:00 p.m. saunter in and enjoy yourself. It lasts till 12:30 a.m. See you there!

Some men heap together
The mistakes of all their lives
The groan about their hardships and often lethargize
And out of all their trouble
they evolve so all may see
A specter
And they name it destiny.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Dear Jane:

Are you feeling sorry for yourself (and all other housewives) this cold, rainy Monday? Well, don't.

Actually, when we stop to think about it, we've got the easiest job on earth. Compare your husband's working conditions with your own, and you'll see what I mean.

As I see it, it's the only job on which, after the family has had breakfast and gone to work or school, and the baby in his play pen, you could take a book and sit down. Of course, the dishes wouldn't get themselves washed nor would the house clean and straighten itself, but we could put such tasks off for another time, and there wouldn't be anybody to tell us we couldn't.

If we want to chat over the telephone or over the back fence, we alone, decide how much time we shall spend, but can any other worker dissipate his time thusly, and get away with it for very long?

I think we homemakers are the most independent laborers in the world. For the most part we can do what we want when we want to do it. We can determine the length of our relief and the time of day it comes. We can work as fast or as slowly as we like, as thoroughly or as sketchilly as our time and inclination allow; we have no foreman or supervisor.

Maybe we aren't just mad about the menial tasks housekeeping entails, but are there many husbands who feel their job is the one and only for them? I have a feeling there are many who, if not aloud, have said, "I should have been a plumber, farmer, lawyer, doctor" — or whatever he isn't. But if he has a wife and children, he can't very well chuck the weekly pay envelope and start all over again, can he? We women knew there would be dishes, dusting and diapers after the strains of Lohengren faded away. We knew what we were taking on and we walked right in; no one pushed us.

What about the salaries we get as compared to other workers? First, we get housing, utilities and food. However few we may have, we get our clothes. Medical and dental care are included. If vacations are possible, ours is with pay. Entertainment, recreation, incidentals and spending money all are included. Electrical appliances, furniture, dishes, linens, silver—maybe a house and car—aren't given with many other jobs.

In addition to these tangible items, we have our husbands and children and, unless we can't see the forest for the trees, a personal stake in our jobs.

I think there has been a stigma attached to housekeeping which has given many a homemaker a feeling of inferiority. We may be doing the kind of work some people delegate to their servants, yet a woman working in her own home is in no sense of the word a servant. A statesman is the servant of the people, but the term does not denote slavery. The woman who feels she must recite the worst aspects of her day, with a hired-girl whine, is going to seem like a hired girl.

The belittling of us and our jobs when compared to the so-called career girls would stop if more of us stood up and said, "I'm employed. I've got a good job. It's a respectable kind of job. It takes a strong back, but a stronger will. It requires good humor, industry, initiative, a variety of skills, a good memory as well as constant alertness, a knowledge of child physchology, adult psychology and sometimes abnormal psychology, depending on neighbors and in-laws. It challenges the best in me but accepts me on days I'm at my worst. It gives me standing among other women. It pays well—in fact, much better than I should reasonably expect considering my training. I can make all the people I meet during the day seem interesting, if I put out a little effort. I am free to sing, play the radio, entertain visitors, or talk to myself while I work. And I can wear what I please while I'm doing it. Compare this security and freedom with a career girl's job, or even your husband's job, and you see what I mean.

Yes, it's a good life, Jane, but sometimes I think it needs more boosting from the homemakers, and a lot less of that, "I'm just a housewife" attitude.

With love, Mary.

Sell 10,000 bushes at 10c to beautify Des Plaines

Des Plaines gardens will be made more attractive this summer by the addition of over 10,000 rose bushes which were sold for 10 cents apiece by a Des Plaines paper one morning in the short span of four hours. The sale to make Des Plaines truly, "The City of Roses", was originally scehduled to last Thursday and Friday but the rush was so tremendous that gardeners who came to the office after 12:30 p. m. on Thursday went away dejected and without rose bushes.

● THOSE TAXES

The chief subject of conversation wherever two or more people congregate during the past ten days has been taxes.

Everyone was expecting a tax raies, but most people were not prepared for the socking they really received.

The new quadrennial assessment setting new valuations for the next four years, plus the heavy increase in the tax rate combined to make those tax bills look particularly large.

Even in cases where there was a reduction in valuation, the tax bill still showed a big jump in figures due to increased rates. Here is an analysis to help clear up for some people the new tax rates.

In Palatine township, for instance, the combined rate of all taxpaying bodies affecting the village of Palatine is 2.628 per $100 of assessed valuation for 1947. For 1946 the combined rate was 1.96, showing a jump this year of 72.8 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Outside the village, within the new consolidated school district, the combined rate for 1947 is $2.078 per $100 of valuation; for 1946 it was $1.50 per $100, showing an increase of 57.8 cents per 100 of assessed valuation.

Where taxes are paid under protest, some part of the tax rates are protested and it takes a lawyer to figure out what he thinks is illegal in the tax levy. Two copies of a protest letter are filed with the collector showing what rates are protested; one copy is receipted and given the tax payer and the other goes to the county treasurer.

It takes several years for these protests to be heard, as the courts are usually 3 or 4 years behind schedule with these cases. Meanwhile, the protested tax money is withheld from taxing bodies to protect any reduction that might someday be granted.

The other form of tax protest involves going before a board of tax appeals of your county. If the board reduces valuation, credit is given on the second installment for any tax cut.

The first installment should be paid before going before the appeal board. It does little good to appeal a valuation where the actual sale value of the property is two of three times the assessed valuation.

If valuations this year had been only half of what they are, the tax load would still have to be carried and the rate would have been doubled to bring in the amount levied by the several taxing bodies.

As long as everything is going up, as long as school teachers are demanding more money and municipal employees are asking for raises, and as long as construction supplies are going up, the cost of government will continue to rise and that money has to be raised through tax bille.

There is no doubt there are inequalities in valuations where the property owner has a just case for the board of appeals, and where he will be given redress. The board of tax appeals estimates 100,000 objectors this year. From present indications we wouldn't be surprised if that number were doubled.

● IT'S A BOY

If cigar smokers in Palatine have the same luck they had last week, cigar counters are going to experience a falling-off of business.

Charlie Folkerts and Frank Sullivan were both handing out cigars with "It's a boy" labels on them. "Buckets" even was passing out "It's a boy" matches.

So with a new Cork & Bottle manager and a new electrical supply dealer coming up for the future, the continuation of two of Palatine's established businesses seems assured.

● VIOLETS

May is the month of violets, and Palatine soon will be the violet town if the little plants keep spreading around the way they have been doing the last several years.

Lawns are full of the bright blue flowers and they're showing up on parkways, and under bushes and shrubs.

● VANISHED

After hearing all the complaints about high taxes, we thought it a bright idea to ask presidents of school boards and the mayor to answer some of the questions under "how come?"

Gray Sanborn of the consolidated school came to our office the other morning in time to see a lady pay her tax bill.

"They sure socked us this year," was her greeting to the tax collector.

"Plenty," was our response, and we added, "Here comes the president of the consolidated school board."

"He ought to be in jail and the whole gang with him," was her reply and then the fireworks started.

After waiting on another customer or two, we looked for "Sandy", but he had vanished. We called him later, telling him he should have stayed to hear more, but he had had enough.

After all, don't you think those fellows should hang around the collector's office a little to help tell the public why their taxes are higher.

We do our best to answer questions for 8 or 10 hours a day! Those boys ought to help out a little.

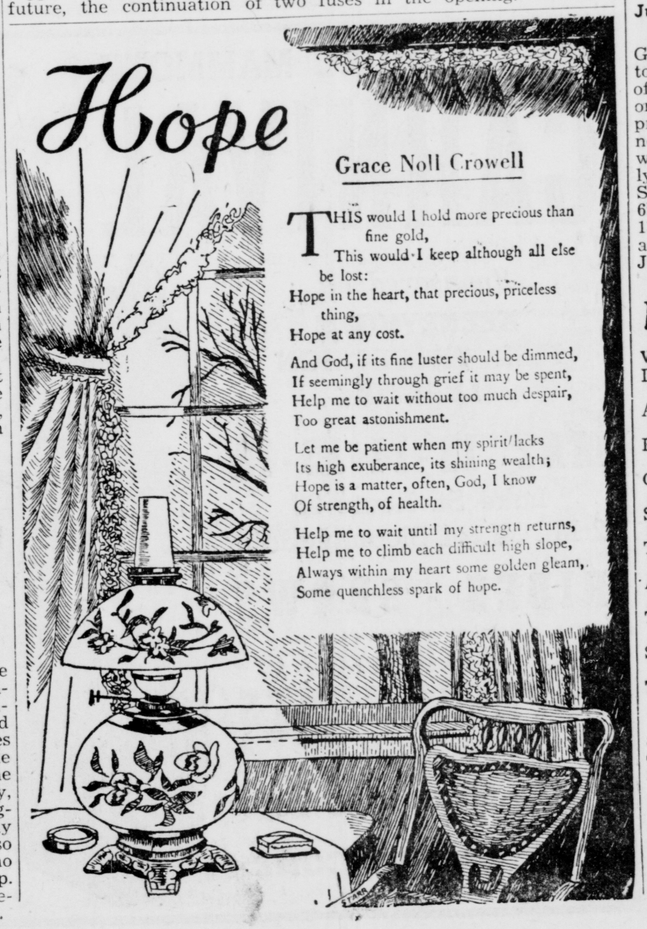
Rob safe of Park Ridge coal company

Six hundred and seventy dollars was removed from the safe o fthe Park Ridge Fuel and Material Co., 254 N. Greenwood avenue, last week after a burglar dynamited the safe.

The cash and currency was taken some time during the night, according to police report. Entry was made through a furnace room into the office, where the burglar knocked off the safe dials and inserted dynamite and fuses in the opening.



Hope

Grace Noll Crowell

THIS would I hold more precious than fine gold,
This would I keep although all else be lost:
Hope in the heart, that precious, priceless thing,
Hope at any cost.

And God, if its fine luster should be dimmed,
If seemingly through grief it may be spent,
Help me to wait without too much despair,
Too great astonishment.

Let me be patient when my spirit lacks
Its high exuberance, its shining wealth;
Hope is a matter, often, God, I know
Of strength, of health.

Help me to wait until my strength returns,
Help me to climb each difficult high slope,
Always within my heart some golden gleam,
Some quenchless spark of hope.

JUST DOGS

A Good Bite —

Many people ask what is a good bite in a dog and just what is this business of a dog being overshot, undershot and so forth?

To help answer the question perhaps it would be best to divide into four types the way and manner in which a dog can bite. These are known as: 1, Overshot; 2, Level; 3, Undershot; 4, Any combination of the first three.

The overshot which is the correct way for a dog to bite with a scissor-edge action can also extend to quite a large space between the front of the lower incissors and the back of the upper. The correct bite in any case is however the scissor edge action where the upper incissors are just in front of the lowers. In some dogs this type of bite is not correct for the breed such as bull-dogs etc., where the undershot bite and type of jaw was developed in the dog for a purpose.

The level or edge to edge bite is just as the name implies and for the most part is not a good bite inasmuch as the teeth tend to become blunt and also the dog cannot take a firm hold or a clean bite on his food etc.

The undershot bite is where the lower incissors are in front of the uppers and if the gap becomes too wide the bite of the dog is very poor. As mentioned before there are some breeds where this type of bite is correct, but even in this case the bite must be such that the lower incissors are directly in front of the uppers in order to obtain a firm hold and good bite.

The last type of bite mentioned was the one where any combination of the first three might be had and a dog with such a bite usually has a rather badly formed head and jaw as well as having little or no real value in the use for which his teeth were intended.

Bays 74 hours —

If you think you have trouble getting the family pooch home after he has decided to run out of the door and head for the tall timber, you are not the only one.

"Sue," outstanding female Plott bear hound, belonging to the Howard Smith pack of Three Mile, Avery County, N. C. followed and bayed one bear for 74 hours.

This event all started on a Wednesday when Howard Smith and some of his friends started out on what they thought was to be a pleasant and uneventful day of bear hunting. The affair ended at least for "Sue" on the following Saturday morning 74 hours after she started. The hunters called it quits on that Wednesday night and Smith himself gave up trying to get "Sue" to come in when he called the dog with his hunting horn. Going back each day to the general area in which he had been hunting Smith could hear his dog's baying as it sounded back and forth in the mountains and finally Saturday the dog came into her owner not from having lost the game but because she was starved out having gone 74 hours with no food and little water.

According to Ken-L-Bits which reported the event "Sue" has made a record unsurpassed by any dog of any breed in staying by the game.

Juvenile Jury —

It has just been announced by Gaines Dog Foods that the dogs to be featured during the month of June as the "Dog-of-the-week" on the "Juvenile Jury" radio program heard Sunday afternoons over the Mutual network will be four of the less frequently seen breeds. The Brittany Spaniel will be presented June 6th, the Otterhound on June 13th, the Mastiff on June 20th and the Golden Retriever on June 27th.

It Happened Here

When Green Throats Sing

Down where the tall green rushes quake
And the slim moon leaves a silvery wake
Rises a chorus that Egypt once knew
On the banks of the Nile where rushes grew.
Sweet and clear from the small green throats
The silvery cadenced melody floats.
All night long to an ancient rune
The hylas sing in the wake of the moon.
Sing, little green throats, weave your old spell
That sorts with your emerald reeds so well.

"I see you're hungry, too," said the business man on a lunch counter stool, addressing his neighbor, a colored porter. "Nosuh, I ain't hungry," answered the other, "I has jes' two rules; fust, I eats 'fore I gits hungry and second I quits wuk 'fore I gits tired. Yessuh, jes' them two rules."

One of the realities of life is that most of us live a life that is more or less lonely. Haven't you seen the time when you would have given a great deal to find some one to talk to who could see the thing that is bothering you the way you see it? Some one who would just sit and listen to your tale of trouble without judging you harshly, criticising or perhaps laughing at the thing that to you is a matter of life or death?

There are tense, bitter moments in every one's life when we long for an adequate means of expressing our grief or unhappiness, our great moments of success or happiness, only to find that others do not appreciate our success or sympathize with our misfortunes. Think of the times you have been cruelly hurt by some one who is blunt and unfeeling, or just plain ignorant. Think of the moments of shame and guilt which you have locked so tight in your mind, and which you are forever hiding from the world because no one would understand.

Yes, each of us lives in a tight little world of our own, and no visitor is ever welcome from the outside world. What we think, what we dream are often shameful, perhaps even criminal dreams and thoughts that the world must never know. We live in this little world, lonely, and not a little afraid.

What can one do to take away the tenseness within us? To relieve us of our heavy burden?

Though I am not a Catholic, I often think that the Catholic Confessional is one of the greatest benefits that any church has ever given to mankind. It seems to me a pity that other churches do not adopt a similar method of lifting the burden of unhappiness from the hearts of the common man. To go there, to be shielded from recognition, and to pour out one's whole heart is a blessing indeed.

But there are other ways of relieving ourselves of our burden. A good, trustworthy friend can do it if he is willing to keep your troubles confidential, and will not criticise, ridicule, nor offer advise until you are ready. Doctors, ministers, good parents, even writing it all out and destroying what you have written can help if you will be honest and face the issue squarely. Confession, it has been said, is good for the soul.

Tales of the STREET

BY L. C. HART

● THOSE TAXES

The chief subject of conversation wherever two or more people congregate during the past ten days has been taxes.

Everyone was expecting a tax raies, but most people were not prepared for the socking they really received.

The new quadrennial assessment setting new valuations for the next four years, plus the heavy increase in the tax rate combined to make those tax bills look particularly large.

Even in cases where there was a reduction in valuation, the tax bill still showed a big jump in figures due to increased rates. Here is an analysis to help clear up for some people the new tax rates.

In Palatine township, for instance, the combined rate of all taxpaying bodies affecting the village of Palatine is 2.628 per $100 of assessed valuation for 1947. For 1946 the combined rate was 1.96, showing a jump this year of 72.8 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Outside the village, within the new consolidated school district, the combined rate for 1947 is $2.078 per $100 of valuation; for 1946 it was $1.50 per $100, showing an increase of 57.8 cents per 100 of assessed valuation.

Where taxes are paid under protest, some part of the tax rates are protested and it takes a lawyer to figure out what he thinks is illegal in the tax levy. Two copies of a protest letter are filed with the collector showing what rates are protested; one copy is receipted and given the tax payer and the other goes to the county treasurer.

It takes several years for these protests to be heard, as the courts are usually 3 or 4 years behind schedule with these cases. Meanwhile, the protested tax money is withheld from taxing bodies to protect any reduction that might someday be granted.

The other form of tax protest involves going before a board of tax appeals of your county. If the board reduces valuation, credit is given on the second installment for any tax cut.

The first installment should be paid before going before the appeal board. It does little good to appeal a valuation where the actual sale value of the property is two or three times the assessed valuation.

If valuations this year had been only half of what they are, the tax load would still have to be carried and the rate would have been doubled to bring in the amount levied by the several taxing bodies.

As long as everything is going up, as long as school teachers are demanding more money and municipal employees are asking for raises, and as long as construction supplies are going up, the cost of government will continue to rise and that money has to be raised through tax bille.

There is no doubt there are inequalities in valuations where the property owner has a just case for the board of appeals, and where he will be given redress. The board of tax appeals estimates 100,000 objectors this year. From present indications we wouldn't be surprised if that number were doubled.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Dear Jane:

Are you feeling sorry for yourself (and all other housewives) this cold, rainy Monday? Well, don't.

Actually, when we stop to think about it, we've got the easiest job on earth. Compare your husband's working conditions with your own, and you'll see what I mean.

As I see it, it's the only job on which, after the family has had breakfast and gone to work or school, and the baby in his play pen, you could take a book and sit down. Of course, the dishes wouldn't get themselves washed nor would the house clean and straighten itself, but we could put such tasks off for another time, and there wouldn't be anybody to tell us we couldn't.

If we want to chat over the telephone or over the back fence, we alone, decide how much time we shall spend, but can any other worker dissipate his time thusly, and get away with it for very long?

I think we homemakers are the most independent laborers in the world. For the most part we can do what we want when we want to do it. We can determine the length of our relief and the time of day it comes. We can work as fast or as slowly as we like, as thoroughly or as sketchilly as our time and inclination allow; we have no foreman or supervisor.

Maybe we aren't just mad about the menial tasks housekeeping entails, but are there many husbands who feel their job is the one and only for them? I have a feeling there are many who, if not aloud, have said, "I should have been a plumber, farmer, lawyer, doctor" — or whatever he isn't. But if he has a wife and children, he can't very well chuck the weekly pay envelope and start all over again, can he? We women knew there would be dishes, dusting and diapers after the strains of Lohengren faded away. We knew what we were taking on and we walked right in; no one pushed us.

What about the salaries we get as compared to other workers? First, we get housing, utilities and food. However few we may have, we get our clothes. Medical and dental care are included. If vacations are possible, ours is with pay. Entertainment, recreation, incidentals and spending money all are included. Electrical appliances, furniture, dishes, linens, silver—maybe a house and car—aren't given with many other jobs.

In addition to these tangible items, we have our husbands and children and, unless we can't see the forest for the trees, a personal stake in our jobs.

I think there has been a stigma attached to housekeeping which has given many a homemaker a feeling of inferiority. We may be doing the kind of work some people delegate to their servants, yet a woman working in her own home is in no sense of the word a servant. A statesman is the servant of the people, but the term does not denote slavery. The woman who feels she must recite the worst aspects of her day, with a hired-girl whine, is going to seem like a hired girl.

The belittling of us and our jobs when compared to the so-called career girls would stop if more of us stood up and said, "I'm employed. I've got a good job. It's a respectable kind of job. It takes a strong back, but a stronger will. It requires good humor, industry, initiative, a variety of skills, a good memory as well as constant alertness, a knowledge of child physchology, adult psychology and sometimes abnormal psychology, depending on neighbors and in-laws. It challenges the best in me but accepts me on days I'm at my worst. It gives me standing among other women. It pays well—in fact, much better than I should reasonably expect considering my training. I can make all the people I meet during the day seem interesting, if I put out a little effort. I am free to sing, play the radio, entertain visitors, or talk to myself while I work. And I can wear what I please while I'm doing it. Compare this security and freedom with a career girl's job, or even your husband's job, and you see what I mean.

Yes, it's a good life, Jane, but sometimes I think it needs more boosting from the homemakers, and a lot less of that, "I'm just a housewife" attitude.

With love, Mary.

Sell 10,000 bushes at 10c to beautify Des Plaines

Des Plaines gardens will be made more attractive this summer by the addition of over 10,000 rose bushes which were sold for 10 cents apiece by a Des Plaines paper one morning in the short span of four hours. The sale to make Des Plaines truly, "The City of Roses", was originally scehduled to last Thursday and Friday but the rush was so tremendous that gardeners who came to the office after 12:30 p. m. on Thursday went away dejected and without rose bushes.

"Sue," outstanding female Plott bear hound, belonging to the Howard Smith pack of Three Mile, Avery County, N. C. followed and bayed one bear for 74 hours.

This event all started on a Wednesday when Howard Smith and some of his friends started out on what they thought was to be a pleasant and uneventful day of bear hunting. The affair ended at least for "Sue" on the following Saturday morning 74 hours after she started. The hunters called it quits on that Wednesday night and Smith himself gave up trying to get "Sue" to come in when he called the dog with his hunting horn. Going back each day to the general area in which he had been hunting Smith could hear his dog's baying as it sounded back and forth in the mountains and finally Saturday the dog came into her owner not from having lost the game but because she was starved out having gone 74 hours with no food and little water.

According to Ken-L-Bits which reported the event "Sue" has made a record unsurpassed by any dog of any breed in staying by the game.

Juvenile Jury —

It has just been announced by Gaines Dog Foods that the dogs to be featured during the month of June as the "Dog-of-the-week" on the "Juvenile Jury" radio program heard Sunday afternoons over the Mutual network will be four of the less frequently seen breeds. The Brittany Spaniel will be presented June 6th, the Otterhound on June 13th, the Mastiff on June 20th and the Golden Retriever on June 27th.

It Happened Here

When Green Throats Sing

Down where the tall green rushes quake
And the slim moon leaves a silvery wake
Rises a chorus that Egypt once knew
On the banks of the Nile where rushes grew.
Sweet and clear from the small green throats
The silvery cadenced melody floats.
All night long to an ancient rune
The hylas sing in the wake of the moon.
Sing, little green throats, weave your old spell
That sorts with your emerald reeds so well.

"I see you're hungry, too," said the business man on a lunch counter stool, addressing his neighbor, a colored porter. "No-suh, I ain't hungry," answered the other, "I has jes' two rules; fust, I eats 'fore I gits hungry and second I quits wuk 'fore I gits tired. Yessuh, jes' them two rules."

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

One of the realities of life is that most of us live a life that is more or less lonely. Haven't you seen the time when you would have given a great deal to find some one to talk to who could see the thing that is bothering you the way you see it? Some one who would just sit and listen to your tale of trouble without judging you harshly, criticising or perhaps laughing at the thing that to you is a matter of life or death?

There are tense, bitter moments in every one's life when we long for an adequate means of expressing our grief or unhappiness, our great moments of success or happiness, only to find that others do not appreciate our success or sympathize with our misfortunes. Think of the times you have been cruelly hurt by some one who is blunt and unfeeling, or just plain ignorant. Think of the moments of shame and guilt which you have locked so tight in your mind, and which you are forever hiding from the world because no one would understand.

Yes, each of us lives in a tight little world of our own, and no visitor is ever welcome from the outside world. What we think, what we dream are often shameful, perhaps even criminal dreams and thoughts that the world must never know. We live in this little world, lonely, and not a little afraid.

What can one do to take away the tenseness within us? To relieve us of our heavy burden?

Though I am not a Catholic, I often think that the Catholic Confessional is one of the greatest benefits that any church has ever given to mankind. It seems to me a pity that other churches do not adopt a similar method of lifting the burden of unhappiness from the hearts of the common man. To go there, to be shielded from recognition, and to pour out one's whole heart is a blessing indeed.

But there are other ways of relieving ourselves of our burden. A good, trustworthy friend can do it if he is willing to keep your troubles confidential, and will not criticise, ridicule, nor offer advise until you are ready. Doctors, ministers, good parents, even writing it all out and destroying what you have written can help if you will be honest and face the issue squarely. Confession, it has been said, is good for the soul.

Extend drive for cancer funds

The Illinois Division of the American Cancer Society is extending its annual fund drive in order that the full state goal of $1,150,000 may be attained, it was announced by Edward Foss Wilson, general campaign chairman.

On April 30, the original closing date of the drive, Illinois reached only 36.4% of its goal.

"If the American Cancer Society is to carry on the full responsibilities entrusted to it by the American people in the fight against cancer, we must secure our full goal," Wilson said. "The Illinois Division plans for the coming year an accelerated program in cancer research, education and service. With over 12,500 people being claimed annually in Illinois by this disease we dare not fail to support this vital work."

Modern Etiquette

Q.—Is it correct for a woman to rise when being introduced, or should she remain seated?

A.—If she is the hostess she should rise, whether being introduced to a man or woman; also, if the other person is elderly or distinguished; otherwise, it is not necessary.

Q.—How long before the wedding should the invitations be sent out?

A.—Not later than fifteen days and not earlier than four weeks before the date set for the wedding.

Q.—Is the abbreviation R.s.v.p. correctly written in capital letters?

A.—Only the first letter of the abbreviation is capitalized.

Q.—If one does not hear the name of the person to whom he is introduced, is it correct to ask that the name be repeated?

A.—It is correct to say "How do you do? I am sorry I did not hear your name." Address yourself directly to the stranger when you wish to have the name repeated.

Q.—What is the correct way to extend invitations to a christening?

A.—As the christening ceremony is an intimate one, it is customary to invite guests by personal notes or by telephone.

Q.—What does the best man at a wedding wear?

A.—Exactly the same attire as the bridegroom, except that the bridegroom's bouttoniere is more elaborate.

Q.—What would be a good reply for a man to make, when a toast has been offered to his bride-to-be and him?

A.—"It would be very difficult for a man as happy as I am to make a speech, but I wish to thank every one of you, in Helen's name and mine."

Q.—Is it necessary that a man remove his glove to shake hands with a woman?

A.—Yes, if her hand is gloveless. If she is wearing gloves, it is not necessary.

Q.—In what direction should dishes be passed at the table, to the right or to the left?

A.—They should always be passed to the left.

Q.—I have broken my engagement. Should I return all the gifts given to me by my former fiance?

A.—All expensive gifts of jewelry and letters should be returned, and of course the engagement ring.

Contralto

Miss Olive Dobson, librarian at the Barrington public library, will sing the solo part of "Alto Rhapsody" by Brahms at the Third Annual Spring Concert of the Barrington Music club. She will be accompanied by a male chorus and the orchestra. The concert will be presented in the Barrington public school auditorium on Saturday, May 22, at 8:15 p. m.

The Barrington Music club has scheduled its Third Annual Spring Concert for Saturday, May 22. Featuring Theodore A. Loms of Mount Prospect as conductor of orchestra and choral groups, and Olive Dobson as soloist, its 75 musicians will present a varied program at 8:15 p. m. in the Barrington Public school auditorium. Miss Dobson will sing the contralto lead in "Alto Rhapsody" by Brahms, accompanied by male chorus and orchestra.

The 75 musicians taking part in the program reside in Palatine, Arlington Heights, Bensenville, Barrington, Cary, Crystal Lake and other northwest suburban towns. They include Willard Cooke, Marianne Lemke, Mrs. John W. Bopp, Miss Vernette, Schwolow, Austin Zimmerman and Mrs. Lisle W. McKown, of Palatine; also Emilio Silvestro and Miss Lillian MacLeish of Arlington Heights and Miss Constance Johnson of Bensenville. Lake Zurich is represented by Earl Young and Albert Hobbs.

The Barrington Music club is presenting the spring concert as a cultural contribution to the northwest suburban area and to advance music in the community from which it draws its musicians. Tickets for the concert are obtainable from members of the club, and according to Mrs. Bernard Lipofsky, general chairman of the event, an early sell-out is anticipated, as last year.

Weekly recipe

Variations of menus characterize today's meals. Mushrooms on toast is a very good meat alternate and provides protein of excellent quality. You can't go wrong on this recipe.

MUSHROOMS ON TOAST
2 cups mushrooms
5 tbsps butter
4 tbsps. flour
2 cups milk
5 hard cooked eggs (cut in pieces)
2 cups cooked celery, diced
½ cup grated cheese

Method: Wash mushrooms. Saute in butter for five minutes; add flour and stir until well blended. Slowly add milk and cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients and keep over slow fire until all are heated. Serve hot on buttered toast.

Suggestion: If you like the flavor of green pepper, cut the desired amount into small pieces, and saute with the mushrooms. Pieces of pimento may be added, if desired.

Questions on G. I. bill

Question: My son got a terminal leave bond, but before he could cash it, he was killed in an accident. Can I get it cashed?

Answer: Yes. Payment will be made to certain survivors upon application. You may hold the bond until its maturity date at 2½% interest if you desire.

Question: I am a veteran with arrested pulmonary tuberculosis and I'd like to know if I can get any compensation from the Veterans' Administration.

Answer: Yes — The VA can make full compensation payments to veterans who have been discharged from its hospitals with arrested tuberculosis up to two years after date of discharge if claim is filed and allowed by VA.

Question: What are the minimum amounts of government insurance I can take out? I'm a World War II veteran.

Answer: The minimum for National Service Life Insurance is $1000 and you can get more in multiples of $500 up to $10,000.

Question: Can a veteran enter business with non-veterans and obtain a guaranteed loan.

Answer: Yes, provided the interest of the veteran is properly protected, but the guarantee must be limited to the veterans' portion of the business.

Board studies ways to remove principal

An attorney has been engaged by the Maine township high school board to advise the board on the steps to be taken in respect to the removal of superintendent of the high school, Frank Holmes. Mr. Holmes has submitted no resignation following his statement two weeks ago that he will not return to his duties next year.

The Board definitely plans to force Holmes' removal but in the meantime is giving him the opportunity to resign legally. No date for the action was given.

Libertyville seeks more revenue

Additional revenue is being sought by the Libertyville Village board to meet a deficit. Following a report of the license committee at a board meeting last week, trustees are considering imposing a $15 license fee on various types of business not now taxed. This is permitted under a state statute.

There is also a possibility that a slight increase in water rates and an additional charge for water softeners will be made. With these increases, together with revenues from parking meters and additional license fees already effective, the board believes the village deficit can be wiped out. Since they were installed several weeks ago, parking meters netted $445 at the end of April and fines for violations amounted to $75.

State road group asks enforcement of traffic laws

A farmers' statewide road study committee today charged that the complete smashup of Illinois' primary highways is being greatly hastened because of laxity in the proper enforcement of existing state laws regulating the maximum lengths and weights of trucks and buses.

During the war, Illinois temporarily relaxed overweight requirements as an emergency aid to the war effort, the committee pointed out. Since the end of the war, state officials have been lax in enforcing Illinois statutes, the committee asserted.

The committee has requested officers of the Illinois Agricultural Association to take proper and immediate steps to see that Illinois officials enforce strict compliance with traffic laws.

Most of the Illinois primary system of paved roads were not designed for the maximum loads now permitted by law, to say nothing of the overload violations, the committee asserted. Only about one per cent of the present state's pavements is designed to accommodate heavier trucks, the committee has discovered. In addition, the number of trucks travelling Illinois highways today weighing the full legal limit of 72,000 pounds is three times that of 1936.

City Conveniences Are No Longer "Strangers" On Electrified Farms

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Everybody works on the farm—mother, dad, and the children. Even the dogs and cats have their appointed duties to perform, from getting in the cows to catching mice. And, what's more, nobody objects to work. What is objectionable is drudgery—particularly household drudgery.

FARM WIFE OR CITY WIFE—There's no difference now.

Until comparatively recent years, farmers could offer their families little in the way of modern conveniences or household appliances. Electric irons, roasters, toasters, ranges, refrigerators, washing machines, and a host of other home appliances might as well have been marked "for city folks only" as far as farm families were concerned. It wasn't because farmers didn't have the money to buy such things. They just didn't have the electricity to operate the household "helpers" which were needed in the home to keep mother from growing old long before her time.

Now that millions of farms are connected to the high line, farm homes—from a convenience standpoint—differ little from city homes. The rural household picture is changing. Sure, farm wives still help with the field work in emergencies, and they still take care of the chickens, gardens and other outside chores. But they also find time to attend P.T.A. meetings and to join in other social and community activities. Their work is not quite so hard. What has happened is that farm women—like their machinery-minded husbands—have transferred many of their household burdens to tireless "electrical servants."

There have been many tests made to show the time and labor saving qualities of various household appliances, but none tell the story quite as well as do some recently completed laundry studies. These studies record that a Connecticut farm woman, during a 13-week period, washed 1,509 pounds of clothes. Before the farm was electrified, she carried 4¾ tons of water and spent 57 hours during the period in the laundry. After electrical equipment and running water were installed, she did her laundry in 23¼ hours—and didn't have to carry any water. That's over 30 hours saved, which means extra time to finish that needle point, do a bit of mending, help plan farm improvements—or just sit and rock awhile.

What helps the farm wife, helps the entire family. Modern conveniences make farm homes more comfortable and housework more pleasant—important factors in encouraging boys and girls to make farming their life work. The operating costs of electrical appliances are exceptionally low. For example, the average amount of electricity consumed by a vacuum cleaner totals 3 kilowatt hours per year; a fan uses 1 KWH for each 25 hours of operation; an electric iron, 6 per month; washing machine, 2 per month; radio, 8 per month; range, 115 per month; and refrigerator, 20 to 40 per month.

Review cautions to farmers for the use of 2, 4-D

To avoid any possible danger from overdose of 2,4-D, follow the recommendations of the manufacturer exactly as printed on the container label. Measure the 2,4-D carefully. Know the rate of application. The manufacturer is not responsible for results from dosages, recommended by any other agency, which exceed those given on the manufacturer's label.

Do not re-seed legumes in treated pastures sooner than one month after spraying with 2,4-D.

TO AVOID drift of 2,4-D spray, do not operate the sprayer near susceptible crops when the wind velocity exceeds 12 miles per hour. A coarse, low-pressure spray, such as that produced by the low-gallonage spray method, is least likely to drift. Dust preparations of 2,4-D are not generally recommended.

Do not allow spray or spray drift to settle on susceptible crops such as tobacco, cotton, tomatoes, peas, beans, sugar beets, alfalfa. It is suggested that the sprayer be kept at least 200 feet away from such susceptible crops if the wind is blowing from the sprayer toward them.

FAULTY machines, inadequate spray equipment, and negligence on the part of the operator are the common causes of irregular spray distribution.

Agricultural Weed-No-More, a 40 per cent ester emulsion of 2,4-D, is recommended for weed control in 1948 on these crops only: corn, sorghums, sugar cane, wheat, oats, rye, barley, flax, rice, and asparagus.

Custom rates announced for power machinery

Illinois farmers expect the 1948 custom rates for many farm machines to advance slightly above the rates paid in 1947, reports Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. This estimate is based on a study of farm machinery custom rates conducted by R. H. Wilcox, department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois college of agriculture. Information on custom rates farmers charged or paid in 1947 and those they expect to charge or pay in 1948 was obtained from ten type-of-farming areas in Illinois.

The report, which was released this week, gives the rates for using power-drawn machinery in 34 field operations. The per-acre rates paid last year for spring plowing and disking, two of the operations used most in this area, and the expected rates for 1948 are as follows:

For Sizable fields only:	1947	1948
Spring plowing	3.20	3.20
Tandem disking	1.35	1.35

LAW on the FARM

Movement of agricultural implements on highways

In 1935 the State Legislature approved a law in relation to the regulation of traffic on highways. Provisions of this act of particular importance to farmers are as follows:

1. Restrictions regarding size, weight, and load of vehicles do not apply to ". . . implements of husbandry temporarily moved upon a highway . . ."

2. "No person shall drive a motor vehicle at such a slow speed as to impede or block the . . . movement of traffic, except when reduced speed is necessary for safe operation or in compliance with the law." The movement of heavy farm machinery or of farm equipment not equipped with rubber tires must necessarily beat reduced speed, and, in view of the above exceptions, such movement would be permissible, even if it did slow down other traffic using the highway, and no license or special permission would be required.

3. Lamps and equipment required by law to be placed on vehicles are not by law required on "implements of husbandry" or farm tractors, except as the law makes specific provision. This section does not, however, permit vehicles to be moved at night without lights or to be moved in a negligent or unsafe manner.

4. A red flag or cloth must be placed on the rear of a projecting load during daylight hours, and a red lantern or light at night. This law would seem to apply to farm implements if they contain projecting loads.

5. With certain exceptions, it is unlawful to operate on the highway a metal-tired vehicle having cleats or lugs which will injure the highway.

6. "In no event shall the oil mat surface of any oil-treated public road be used as an area or space for turning any tractor or other farm machinery in carrying on or performing farming operations on adjacent land."

7. It is unlawful to spill any part of a load on a public highway.

8. When metal-tired vehicles weighing more than four tons, including the load, drive over the edge of a paved public highway, planking is required to protect the edge of the pavement.

9. "Local authorities may adopt additional traffic regulations which are not in conflict with the provisions of this act." For example, a municipality or other local authority may exercise reasonable power over parking, traffic control, processions or assemblages of vehicles, speed, the direction of traffic on particular roads or streets.

10. "Every person riding . . . an animal or driving any animal drawing a vehicle upon a roadway shall be subject to the provisions of this act applicable to the driver of a vehicle, except those provisions . . . which by their nature can have no application."

11. Any vehicle carrying explosives or flammable liquids, or a school bus carrying any school child shall stop before crossing at grade or any railroad track.

There are many other provisions in the vehicle code which farmers should become familiar with, but the ones explained above cover the main points relating to the movement of implements.

Civil Service examinations

John T. Jarecki, Collector of Internal Revenue, First District of Illinois, announced today that the Bureau is in need of qualified persons to fill existing vacancies in Deputy Collector and Office Auditor positions in the First Illinois Collection District. Appointments to these positions, which have a starting salary of $2644.00 a year, will be made in accordance with Federal Civil Service rules and satisfactory completion of a probationary period will accord all of the benefits applying to the career service.

An examination for these positions is now open and interested applicants may secure further information and application forms from the Seventh U. S. Civil Service Regional Office, New Post Office Building, Chicago 7, Ill., or from the Secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners at any first or second-class post office. Applications must be on file with the Seventh U. S. Civil Service Regional Office not later than June 7, 1948.

Libertyville seeks more revenue

Additional revenue is being sought by the Libertyville Village board to meet a deficit. Following a report of the license committee at a board meeting last week, trustees are considering imposing a $15 license fee on various types of business not now taxed. This is permitted under a state statute.

There is also a possibility that a slight increase in water rates and an additional charge for water softeners will be made. With these increases, together with revenues from parking meters and additional license fees already effective, the board believes the village deficit can be wiped out. Since they were installed several weeks ago, parking meters netted $445 at the end of April and fines for violations amounted to $75.

State road group asks enforcement of traffic laws

A farmers' statewide road study committee today charged that the complete smashup of Illinois' primary highways is being greatly hastened because of laxity in the proper enforcement of existing state laws regulating the maximum lengths and weights of trucks and buses.

During the war, Illinois temporarily relaxed overweight requirements as an emergency aid to the war effort, the committee pointed out. Since the end of the war, state officials have been lax in enforcing Illinois statutes, the committee asserted.

The committee has requested officers of the Illinois Agricultural Association to take proper and immediate steps to see that Illinois officials enforce strict compliance with traffic laws.

Most of the Illinois primary system of paved roads were not designed for the maximum loads now permitted by law, to say nothing of the overload violations, the committee asserted. Only about one per cent of the present state's pavements is designed to accommodate heavier trucks, the committee has discovered. In addition, the number of trucks travelling Illinois highways today weighing the full legal limit of 72,000 pounds is three times that of 1936.

City Conveniences Are No Longer "Strangers" On Electrified Farms

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Everybody works on the farm—mother, dad, and the children. Even the dogs and cats have their appointed duties to perform, from getting in the cows to catching mice. And, what's more, nobody objects to work. What is objectionable is drudgery—particularly household drudgery.

FARM WIFE OR CITY WIFE—There's no difference now.

Until comparatively recent years, farmers could offer their families little in the way of modern conveniences or household appliances. Electric irons, roasters, toasters, ranges, refrigerators, washing machines, and a host of other home appliances might as well have been marked "for city folks only" as far as farm families were concerned. It wasn't because farmers didn't have the money to buy such things. They just didn't have the electricity to operate the household "helpers" which were needed in the home to keep mother from growing old long before her time.

Now that millions of farms are connected to the high line, farm homes—from a convenience standpoint—differ little from city homes. The rural household picture is changing. Sure, farm wives still help with the field work in emergencies, and they still take care of the chickens, gardens and other outside chores. But they also find time to attend P.T.A. meetings and to join in other social and community activities. Their work is not quite so hard. What has happened is that farm women—like their machinery-minded husbands—have transferred many of their household burdens to tireless "electrical servants."

There have been many tests made to show the time and labor saving qualities of various household appliances, but none tell the story quite as well as do some recently completed laundry studies. These studies record that a Connecticut farm woman, during a 13-week period, washed 1,509 pounds of clothes. Before the farm was electrified, she carried 4¾ tons of water and spent 57 hours during the period in the laundry. After electrical equipment and running water were installed, she did her laundry in 23¼ hours—and didn't have to carry any water. That's over 30 hours saved, which means extra time to finish that needle point, do a bit of mending, help plan farm improvements—or just sit and rock awhile.

What helps the farm wife, helps the entire family. Modern conveniences make farm homes more comfortable and housework more pleasant—important factors in encouraging boys and girls to make farming their life work. The operating costs of electrical appliances are exceptionally low. For example, the average amount of electricity consumed by a vacuum cleaner totals 3 kilowatt hours per year; a fan uses 1 KWH for each 25 hours of operation; an electric iron, 6 per month; washing machine, 2 per month; radio, 8 per month; range, 115 per month; and refrigerator, 20 to 40 per month.

Appointments to these positions, which have a starting salary of $2644.00 a year, will be made in accordance with Federal Civil Service rules and satisfactory completion of a probationary period will accord all of the benefits applying to the career service.

An examination for these positions is now open and interested applicants may secure further information and application forms from the Seventh U. S. Custom rates announced for power machinery

Illinois farmers expect the 1948 custom rates for many farm machines to advance slightly above the rates paid in 1947, reports Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. This estimate is based on a study of farm machinery custom rates conducted by R. H. Wilcox, department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois college of agriculture. Information on custom rates farmers charged or paid in 1947 and those they expect to charge or pay in 1948 was obtained from ten type-of-farming areas in Illinois.

The report, which was released this week, gives the rates for using power-drawn machinery in 34 field operations. The per-acre rates paid last year for spring plowing and disking, two of the operations used most in this area, and the expected rates for 1948 are as follows:

For Sizable fields only:	1947	1948
Spring plowing	3.20	3.20
Tandem disking	1.35	1.35

Paying the piper

Farmers appalled at taxes, but to no avail

"Most farmers are getting their tax bills at this time and are appalled at their mounting property tax," states Farm Adviser, C. A. Hughes. "We have constantly been pointing out that during an inflation after war, sooner or later somebody is going to have to pay up, not only that, but most of these high taxes usually continue for a period of 5 or 6 years, until there is a period of deflation, possibly tax strikes when things are scaled down to a lower level, and going down is always much harder than going up.

"Many have suggested not paying taxes at this time or starting strikes. The law is if you do not pay your property tax your property can be sold and there is nothing you can do about it. Probably at this time there would be willing buyers for any property in arrears on taxes.

"AS WE STATED, it is much easier going up the scale than going down. Added to this is the fact that Illinois is operating under a very, very old tax law which the Farm Bureau and the Illinois Agricultural Association attempted to amend a few years ago, but even farmers themselves were not interested, hence the undue burden of taxes that are falling on property at the present time. A great many who vote want more services and clamour for improvements that are costly, do not have to pay but a small amount of the bill. We put in many very expensive improvements, which are very, very fine, but very, very costly.

"If you will look on your tax bill and study it over very carefully you will find that most of this money that you are going to pay will be spent within a very few miles of your own home and not in Chicago, Springfield or Washington as we often thoughtlessly imagine. Most of these bills are incurred by the taxpayers themselves in an indirect way—that indirect way that we refer to—the tax payer's refusal to attend his regular April town meeting as we have urged time and again and to be thoroughly familiar with the budget that is set up and to see that taxing bodies do not over levy. It is our opinion that in many, many cases levies in townships have been much more than was actually justified. We have only ourselves to blame for not being there and knowing what was going on. We clamour for local government but don't do much about it when we have the chance.

"WHAT CAN be done now? Very little, is about the only answer that can be given. It is the same old story of trying to lock the door after the horse has been stolen. You can, in paying this first assessment, pay under protest, then a little later on, about July, file for a hearing before the Board of Review. About your only chance in winning on an appeal before the Board of Review is to show that you have been taxed inequitably as compared to your neighborhood.

"You cannot go into the Board and say that public officials are spendthrifts, that you wont be able to pay your taxes, that taxes are generally too high, that most government costs are too high, that will do no good, but if you can show that your land has been valued higher than your neighbor's land, that it is of about the same quality and location, there is a possibility of your getting a reduction in your assessment. This may lower your tax a few dollars but on the whole it wont be very much compared with the actual raise in your taxes. Increased taxes come about because of inflation.

"Salaries have gone up for teachers and officials, cost of improvements have advanced, cost of government has gone up, just the same as cost of everything else, so our tax bills are going to be high for some time until there is a rugged readjustment in our taxing structure. Property taxes are bearing all the most of local government. Many who have high personal earnings pay little for local government."

10% rate boost granted dozen suburban railroads

A 10 per cent boost in suburban fares was granted a dozen railroads serving 400,000 Chicago area commuters by Illinois Commerce commission last week.

The price hike gives the lines a permanent 20 per cent increase over last November's fares, since the railroads are already operating on a temporary 10 per cent boost.

The increase will go into effect Tuesday, May 11, on the Illinois Central railroad and other lines indicated they would follow suit.

In granting the permanent 20 per cent raise, the commission turned down petitions for a 30 per cent boost by the I. C., Northwestern, Burlington and Milwaukee roads.

The North Shore line, which received its increase a week ago in a special order, was included in the latest order, as were the South Shore, Alton, Rock Island, Wabash, New York Central, Pennsylvania and Santa Fe roads.

Flies and filth go hand in hand in city and farm

Flies and filth go hand in hand. Flies will not continue to reproduce except in places where there is decaying organic matter, points out Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes.

For this reason the adviser stressed the need to eliminate all filth as a major step in the fly-free program that has been started in this area. He believes that the nauseating habits of the fly should make each person want to take an enthusiastic part in this program to do away with this pest.

"Farmers and city residents should make sure that their respective premises are clean and stay clean," he declared. "There should be no half-way job in cleaning up."

FLIES BREED primarily in decaying organic matter. They frequent barnyards, privies, garbage dumps, putrifying animal carcasses and other foul-smelling materials before they discover human food upon which to crawl and deposit thousands upon thousands of germs.

Many authorities brand the common house fly as man's most dangerous insect pest. It presents a serious menace to human health, and is also an annoyance to both man and animal.

C. A. Hughes reports that plans are developing for a successful fly control program in the county. Local groups are cooperating actively by distributing authentic information in control and are stimulating increased interest in the control program by speaking before various groups.

SOME TWENTY diseases are claimed to be carried by the fly. Through its sloppy eating habits, it plants germs from its mouth, its three pairs of sticky legs carry filth and germs from its last "sitting" place to your food, and it excretes filth and germs while it is eating.

"There is every good reason why we should control flies in our communities. By minimizing the chance of spreading disease, fly control will mean health and comfort for you and your family. Then, too, if our farm animals are spared the torment of the stable and horn flies, more milk or meat will be produced.

"Sanitation and spraying will do the job; sanitary practices should be put into effect now. Spraying will come later. Let's meet the challenge and eliminate the billions of flies from our midst."

causing you to suffer from HOT FLUSHES?
Does the functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then DO try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!
Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such 'middle-age' distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean).
It's also a great stomachic tonic! Any drugstore.

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Are YOU Going Thru CHANGE of LIFE?

causing you to suffer from HOT FLUSHES?
Does the functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women (38-52 yrs.) make you suffer from hot flushes, feel so nervous, high-strung, irritable, weak? Then DO try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this!
Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such 'middle-age' distress. It's what Doctors call a uterine sedative. It positively contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. Pinkham's Compound helps nature (you know what we mean).
It's also a great stomachic tonic! Any drugstore.
LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good heath is to endure.
When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Understanding twins

Doctor Ward's Notebook

Humans characteristically produce only one offspring at birth, in sharp contrast to animals farther down the evolutionary scale. When a deviation from this general rule occurs, and two or more children are born simultaneously, the incident arouses considerable comment and interest. (Consider that people travel from all over the world and spend $25,000,000 a year to view the renowned Dionne quintuplets!) There are over 2,000,000 twins, a good-sized portion of our population, in the United States today.

TWINS ARE OF TWO KINDS. Those which, develop from the splitting of one fertilized egg are commonly known as identical (one-egg) twins and are always of the same sex. These twins are constantly being mistaken for one another (Shakespeare's Comedy of Errors), have strikingly similar personalities, and are almost exact images of each other.

Twins who develop from two separate eggs fertilized by two different spermatozoa are known as fraternal (two-egg) twins, and may be of either sex. These twins have the same relationship and hereditary background as brothers and sisters. They do not look exactly alike ,have different personalities, and often are not closely attached to each other.

SUPERTWINS — TRIPLETS, QUADRUPLETS, AND QUINTUPLETS — also come from the fertilization of one or more eggs. Thus various combinations may exist in which some super-twins are identical while others have the same relationship as brothers or sisters. The Dionnes undoubtedly all came from a single fertilized egg. This accounts for their amazing physical and mental similarities. There are authentic cases in which six babies were born at once, and unconfirmed reports of births in which there were said to have been as many as eleven. None of these, however, have survived more than a few days.

MANY PRIMITIVE PEOPLES had the belief that twins, being something out of the ordinary, were symbols of either good or evil, depending on the whim of their tribe or local medicine man. Some were thought to have supernatural powers; others were scorned — even put to death — as evil spirits. Some of these fallacies exist today in milder forms among persons misinformed about twins.

The false notion that one or more twins may be sterile is untrue and unfortunately has led in several instances to much unnecessary suffering. Similarly, the idea that twins are below normal in physique, intelligence, or moral stature is unfounded. True, the pre-natal and early post-natal months are often more difficult for twins, but those who survive are in no way tainted.

Lesson in English

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED

Do not say, "He wants you and I to go." Say, "He wants you and me to go."

Either "He lighted the fire", or "He lit the fire" is correct, this being a matter of choice.

Do not say, "She sure is popular." Say, "She surely is popular."

Do not say, "I hope you don't take sick." Say, "I hope you don't become sick (or, ill)."

Do not say, "I guess he will be there." Say, "I think (or, suppose) he will be there."

Do not say, "He stood outside of the house." Omit of.

WORDS OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Hearth. Pronounce harth, a as in arm, and not herth.

Lamentable. Pronounce with accent on first syllable, not the second.

Isthmus. Pronounce either is-mus or isth-mus.

Oath; pronounce the th as in both. Oaths: pronounce othz, the th as in smooth.

Inopportune. Pronounce the u as in unit, with principal accent on last syllable.

Regime. Pronounce ra-zhem, a as in ray, e as in me, accent last syllable.

WORDS OFTEN MISSPELLED

Gymnasium; observe the s, pronounced z. Glacier (a body of ice). Glazier (one whose business is to set glass in window frames, etc.) Emersion (act of coming out); one m. Immersion (act of plunging into); two m's. Throw (to hurl). Throe (extreme pain). Yoke (a frame of wood to receive the neck of an animal). Yolk (the yellow part of an egg). Plaid; though pronounced plad.

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

DISPARITY; state of being dissimilar; difference. "A disparity in tastes between husband and wife is unfortunate."

AFFRONT (noun); a deliberately offensive act of word. "Young men soon give, and soon forget affronts; old age is slow in both."—Addison.

CELERITY; rapidity of motion; speed. "Time, with all its celerity, moves slowly to him whose whole enjoyment is to watch its flight."—Johnson.

DIVEST; to unclothe; to dispossess. "It is difficult to divest one's self of vanity; because impossible to divest one's self of self-love."—Horace Walpole.

ORNATE: established elaborately. "A very ornate and expensive collar sometimes adorns a worthless dog."

INVETERATE: confirmed in habit. "He is an inveterate smoker." "He is an inveterate idler."

Bits o' business

Oil industry executives, faced with disturbing backstage proposals for government controls, point out that gasoline in a free market has risen only five cents a gallon since 1941 while milk, under federal control from cow to bottle, has climbed seven cents a quart during the same period . . . With chick hatchings off 25 per cent for the first quarter of 1948, eggs are going into private storage at twice the rate of a year ago in anticipation of a slump in egg output and higher prices . . . Employment may hit a new peak this summer, with normal season increases in agriculture and construction, the Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates . . . Continued development and wider use of automatic machinery is the only way America can continue to maintain its share of world cotton textile markets, industry leaders insist . . . Rises in hide prices have brought about wholesale increases of as high as 10 per cent in shoe prices . . . Heightened competition in consumer goods sales is booming the premium business to more than double its prewar size. But the soap wrapper or box top is not enough to get you a premium now. Inflation has boosted premium prices, too.

FORGIVENESS

A wise man will make haste to forgive, because he knows the full value of time and will not suffer it to pass away in unnecessary pain.

—Rambler

He who has not forgiven an enemy has not yet tasted one of the most sublime enjoyments of life.

Forgiveness ought to be like a canceled note—torn in two, and burned up, so that it can never be shown against one.

A merely fallen enemy may rise again; but the reconciled one is truly vanquished.

Persecution is the weakness of tyrants engendered by their fear, and love will cast it out. Continue steadfast in love and good works.
